DEDICATION

●

There is nothing in which we take more pleasure and pride than in dedicating "Impressions" to our sympathetic guide and sponsor, Mrs. Eastwood.

To the Class of January 1931:

TRUTH, HONOR, MERCY and JUSTICE are watch words which have been especially emphasized during your later years in school. I am sure the eternal fitness of these has been so deeply inculcated that they will guide you during all your lives.

The fine spirit of the class is a source of great gratification to all its teachers and I join with them in wishing you all the success and the happiness in your later lives that you have so richly merited.

Very cordially yours,

Wm. F. Gray.

Dear Girls of the Class of January 1931:

As you leave the protecting influences of your dearly loved school to set out on this first quest of your life in the larger world may you, like the princely young Gareth, be inspired by noble ideals of service. May you "live pure, speak true" and may your lives reflect

"Clear honour shining like the dewy star
Of dawn, and faith, with pure
Affection, and the light of victory,
And glory gain'd, and evermore to gain."

Sincerely your friend,

MARY E. EASTWOOD.

To the Class of January, 1931:

From the sheltering walls of William Penn you are going out into the world with determination to forge ahead, to overcome difficulties, "to get there" in spite of everything. Where? First make sure that your destination is worth while. Then, Go!

But obey the traffic regulations. "Keep to the right," "Watch your step," "Don't crowd," "Keep moving," "Step to the front." Did you ever think how many of these ordinary every day guide signs have a deeper meaning in them, as have so many of life's commonplaces?

So, "Step to the front," girls of the graduating class! But, above all, if you would avoid disaster, if you would reach your goal,—"Keep to the RIGHT!"

Sincerely your friend,

LILLIAN K. WYMAN.

To My Classmates :

The four happy and memorable years we have spent together in this noble institution have drawn to a close all too soon.

Now we are ready to embark upon the high waters of life—

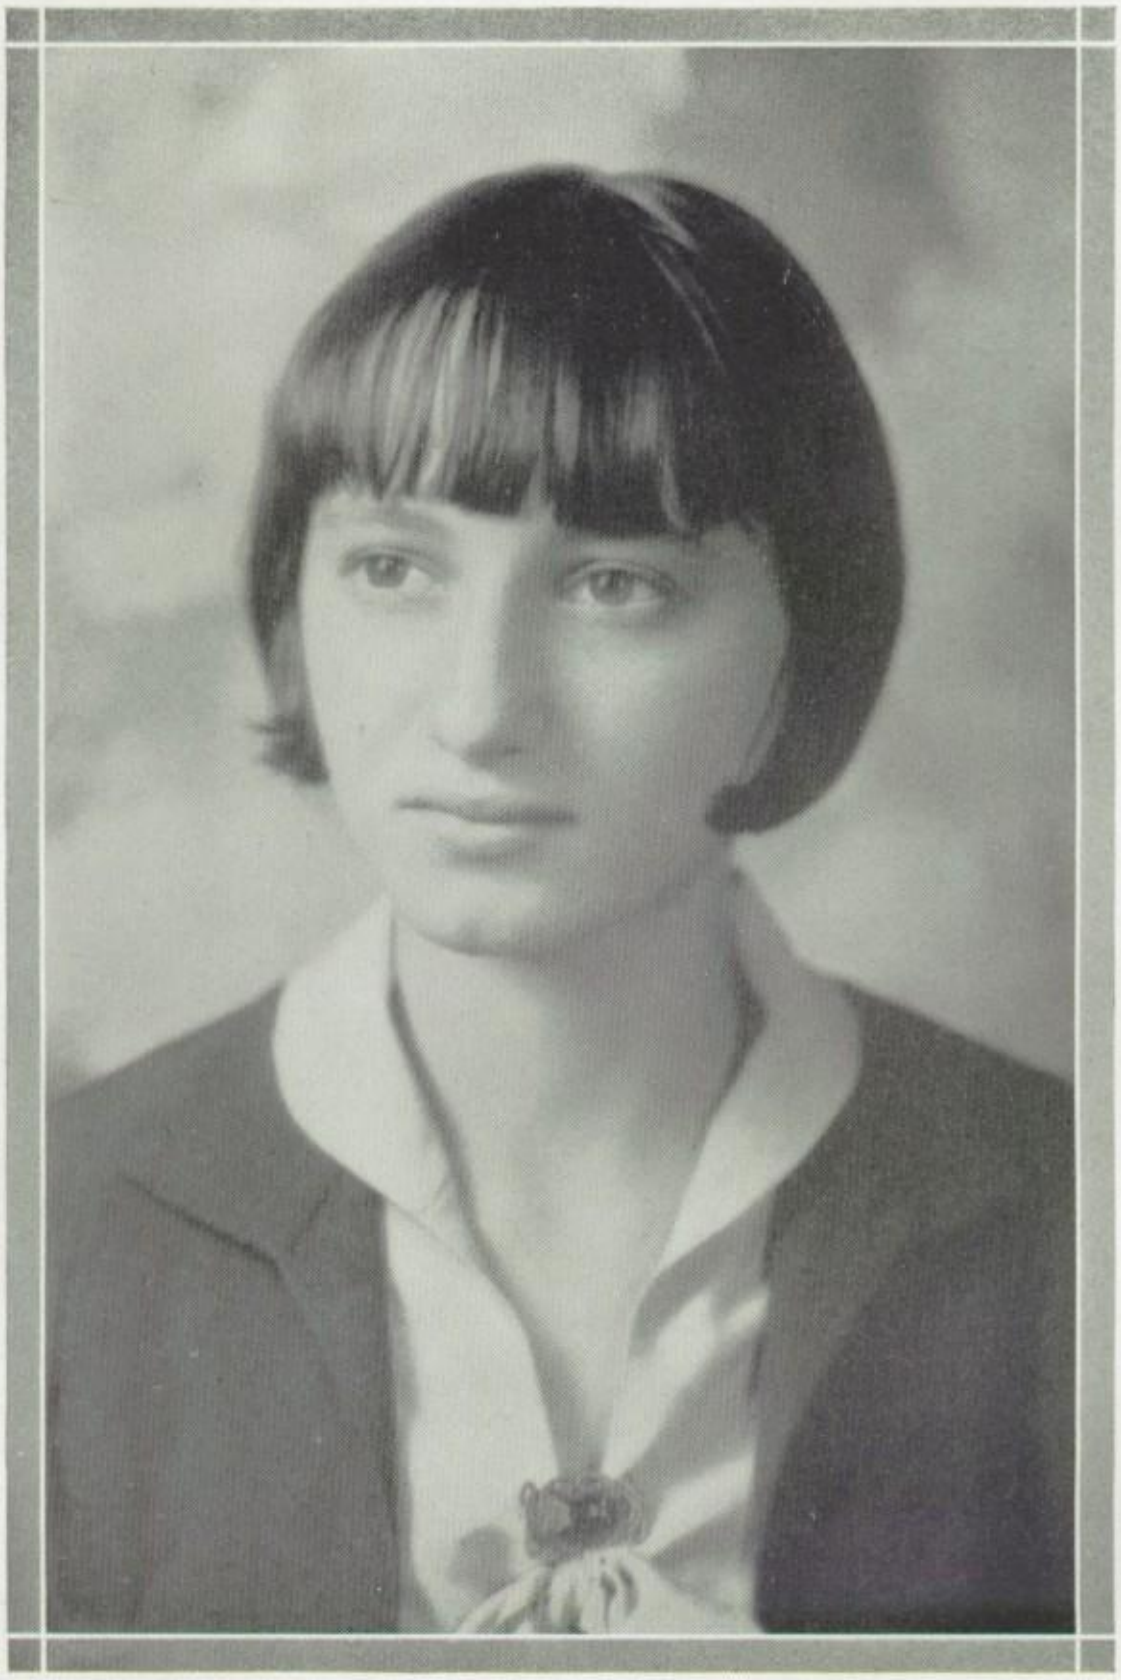
"Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea"

for the lessons learned here during our short stay—those of service, co-operation, sacrifice, and unselfishness will be like a beacon of light leading us to the harbor of success.

As we depart to launch upon our chosen fields of activities, may I hope that the friendships formed here will remain forever; for the sacred ties of friendship cannot be broken in a day or in a year.

Very sincerely,

IDA MAIDMAN,
Class President.



Dear Classmates:

Follow thru! Once you have started a job, let no obstacle deter you, but fight on to the finish as you have done during these four successful years. You owe it to yourselves to strive to reach your goal, for only then will you feel the true happiness which comes from knowing you have done your best.

Remember, make each attempt a perfect stroke. Then you will surely realize the success and happiness I wish you all.

Sincerely yours,

SUSAN KAIT,
Chief Justice.

My Dear Classmates:

The four most beautiful years of our life are coming to an end. Do not let the thought sadden us; instead, let us think of our graduation as the commencement of the continuation of that wonderful happiness we have had. May your co-operation and earnest, willing effort bring the same satisfactory results from the contacts you will make later in life, as they have from your association with our students.

Be determined. Determination means—stick to what you know is right and get a new hold when you are wrong.

Very sincerely yours,

MILDRED COHN,

Student Association President.

SENATE AND COURT

Seated—Susan Kait, Mildred Cohn.

Class Poem

The trail doth end—the journey, done,
And darkened is the day,
Night slowly spreads her wings—the sun
Glides deep beneath the bay.

Seated upon a mountain height,
I lazily look down,
The night is calm, the soothing wind
Makes but a whispered sound.

To the soft sands, I turn my eyes,
Then at a mirage stare,
In the sand dunes, nestled, lies
My Alma Mater there.

And faint impressions bursting free,
Beat hard upon my breast,
As seething, the sad, surging sea
Beats with its swell and crest.

I close my eyes, again I see
My history of the past,
Before me passing endlessly,
And then it's gone—at last.

Four years ago I longed to part,
In parting to be blest,
Now, that attained, the farewell smart
My happiness—depressed.

I rise and raise my wearied hands,
And, happily embrace
The golden beams, the angels send,
My sadness to erase.

They show to me my winding way,
And beckon joyously,
And bid me start without delay,
And shape my destiny.

And now, unfaltering I start,
Upon Life's Broad Highway,
And groping, striving, I depart,
And start anew the Day.

REBA WASSERMAN.

"Min"

MINNIE ABRAMSON

1900 Lombard Street — Commercial

"For knowledge she has such a thirst,
In every class she comes in first."

Min has a cheery smile, and what a brain! Four years of high school was too much for her, so she got through in three and one-half. May you always win through in everything, and as well, as you have here.

ACTIVITIES: S. A., Monitor, Spanish Club, Social Hour Club, Student Aid Club, Social Workers' Club, Mathematics Club, Contemporary Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Aesthetic dancer.

VIOLA ANDERSON

920 South 19th Street — Home Economics

"We are indeed very proud,
To have such a girl in our crowd,
Viola is the little gal
Always helping out a pal."

Here's one who never questioned a duty. When volunteers were asked for, her hand went up first. Viola was the "Helpful Henry" of Book 1. We all thank you, Beannly, and may your sunny smile win as many hearts elsewhere as here at William Penn.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association.

HOBBY: Cooking.

FUTURE: Authority on Culinary Art.

"Beannly"

"Anne"

ANNA AREJULA

129 Bainbridge Street — Commercial

"A little Spanish maid,
Who gave to us her aid."

Our class boasts of many fine girls, and among them is Anna, from the land of sunny Spain. It caused her no pain to pay us in full measure, that treasure of treasures,—checks, the means of securing our lunches. Here's to you, Anne! May you reign supreme o'er check land.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Late Monitor, Book Lovers' Club, Swimming Club, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Bridge.

FUTURE: Selling tokens for the P. R. T.

ANNA ARLUS

249 North Ninth Street — Retail Selling

"Anna was an earnest student,
Stately, tall, and neat;
At English and at Gym,
She just couldn't be beat."

Anna managed to look her best even after periods in the gym. Quite an accomplishment! But that's not all —she is our idea of what the well-mannered young lady of 1931 should be.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Usher at Senior Reception, Captain Monitor, Entry Clerk.

HOBBY: Tennis.

FUTURE: Helen Wills, II.

"Nan"

"Boots"

RUTH AUSTIN

430 South Fifth Street — Commercial

"Noted for her dancing,
Quiet in all her ways,
With a smile most enhancing,
Was the Ruth of our school days."

Ruth always embodied the spirit of grace. Remember the Senior Reception? Always calm and collected, she seemed to us too good to be true; but if ever a girl was true, Ruth was. The fairies were certainly generous with her, for she has the power of attraction over all.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Book Lovers' Club, Senior Reception, Bank Clerk, Prom Committee.

HOBBY: Jewels. (?)

FUTURE: Modelling (for) jewelry.

ROSELYN C. BANKIN

3106 West Berks Street — Commercial

"Diet, exercise, measles, mumps,
In hygiene we felt like a lot of chumps;
For Roselyn always managed to know
Why we have or do so and so."

It's always been a puzzle to us that a good-looking girl could so excel in physiology. Her brain made her a blessing to every teacher. And of course, we won't forget that she could be a stunning Indian, when she wanted to be.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Archive Committee, Senior Reception, Monitor, Volunteer, Social Workers' Club, Student Aid Club, Choral Club, Social Hour Club, Contemporary Club, Spanish Club, Late Monitor, Special.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Roselyn Bankin, M. D.

"Cleo"

"Bobby"

MARION LOUISE BAUCHOP

1449 North 29th Street — Commercial

"It was hard to get Marion to talk,
But at work she didn't balk."

Bobby, as her intimates know her, is a great sport. The eager expression she constantly keeps on her face as she listens, makes her very popular with talkers. Small, to be sure, but then, "Mighty oaks from little acorns grow."

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Bank Clerk, Alternate, Volunteer, Monitor, Student Aid Scout.

HOBBY: Miniature Golf.

FUTURE: Miniature Bobby Jones.

NETTIE BEBCHUK

3138 West Clifford Street — Commercial

"Let a smile be your umbrella
On a rainy, rainy day;
And your check will be a fat one
When you collect your pay."

Not until you meet and know Nettie do you believe that "good things come in small packages." Cheerful, helpful, charming Nan, our four years are up too soon, and we must say "au revoir," but our best wishes go with you.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Monitor, Late Monitor, Banker, Athletic Club, Junior Dramatic Club, French Club, Social Workers' Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Champion correspondent.

"Ned"

"Fritz"

FREDA BECKMAN

1747 North 31st Street — Commercial

"With a little dash of nonsense,
A little bit of fun,
Plus an earnestness in classroom,
Her career is well begun."

Here is a sprightly little miss who was always "among those present" when there was something doing. But she was not always joking, and she seriously tells us, she has ambitions. Well, good luck, Freda!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Glee Club, Student Aid Scout, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Reading.

FUTURE: Editor of a new Book of Knowledge.

PEARL BENJAMIN

509 Randolph Street — Commercial

"Here's a typical modern maid,
Who's future is already laid;
In typing a shark,
Always up to the mark,
And her pep's the kind that won't fade."

Pearl always kept her sunny side up with us, and never allowed her gloom, if any, to show itself. In typing, too, she left us all behind. She led thus in all to which she put her hand.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Late Monitor, Monitor, Student Aid Scout, Spanish Club, Hikers' Club.

HOBBY: Wearing pumps.

FUTURE: Selling pumps.

"Benny"

"Billie"

WILHELMINA BERGER

2908 Girard Avenue — Commercial

"Billie's smile was always ready,
To be seen and loved by us;
In her friendships she was steady,
Always faithful, never brusque."

We can say without reserve that we have always enjoyed Billie's society. She was ready for us with a smile each time we saw her, and never had she been seen to pout. She was a good scholar and a good friend.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Entry Clerk, Captain Monitor, Volunteer, President Theatre Club, Vice-President Social Workers' Club.

HOBBY: Swimming.

FUTURE: Posing for magazine covers.

CELIA BERKOWITZ

315 Poplar Street — Commercial

"All who aspire joy to win
Must share it—happiness was born a twin."

Celia has dancing feet, and, we add, "her voice is like unto a lark." You should hear her croon the blues! We consider her our own Libby Holman, and maybe we're not far wrong, at that!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Athletic Club, Students' Aid Club, Bank Officer, Social Workers' Club, Monitor, Volunteer, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Blues singer.

"Sis"

"Sutz"

SOPHIE BERMAN

1321 North Marshall Street — Commercial

"She is both dainty and neat,
And in every way very sweet."

Although Sophie was rather quiet, she had the rare gift of saying clever little things at the right time, and those were so odd and witty that they usually made us laugh. She was a true friend and a fine pal.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Scout, Volunteer, Monitor, Bank Officer, Social Workers' Club, Glee Club.

HOBBY: Hello.

FUTURE: Greeting the boss.

ESTHER BERNSTEIN

784 South 3rd Street — Commercial

"Esther is fair and charming,
And her smile is quite disarming,
Ready to work and ready to play,
She is always happy and gay."

Esther likes to smile; a smile that radiates joy to all who know her. Don't lose it, Esther, and wherever you go, spread the sunshine of your nature! May the happiness you've given us in William Penn be reciprocated in success and friendship.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Late Monitor, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Joy dispenser.

"Sandy"

"Else"

ELSIE BERSTLER

4150 Robbins Avenue — Commercial

"Elsie is a tiny miss,
Very much liked by all;
The thing that puzzles us, though,
Is all she knows for one so small."

Elsie lives up to the true and useful phrase, "A friend in need is a friend indeed." If you are at a loss for a bookkeeping sum, or a stenography outline, ask her. Incidentally, Elsie is quite adept at handling the piano keys, as, too, is her sister.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Gold.

FUTURE: Member of sister piano playing team.

LENA BLUME

1900 South 4th Street — Commercial

"Lena is modest and charming,
Kind, gracious, always smiling,
Ever ready to help a friend in need;
She is a good sport, indeed."

Lena is one of those efficient girls who do a great deal without much ado. Her lessons never showed her hurried preparation on the trolley car, en route to school. Lee must have been gifted with some sixth sense, for she always thrust aside her book and never rode past her stop.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Typing Committee.

HOBBY: Reading.

FUTURE: Pleasing others.

"Lee"

"Gold"

GOLDIE E. BOLNO

2312 Parrish Street — Commercial

"Here, there, everywhere,
Play, stunt, sale or fair;
No matter where you look or go,
You will find Goldie Bolno."

Goldie is another one of those girls who were willing to work without credit. Her services as "Special" were especially commendable. It was not hard to find Goldie, because of her bright hair. Along with the other tasks she had, she undertook that of getting thin.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Special, Monitor, Social Workers' Club, Chemistry Club, Senior Reception, Usher at May Fete.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Slim Jim.

IDA BORISH

1766 North 28th Street — Commercial

"She may seem unobtrusive to you,
But try going without her, and see what you do."

Because Id's chief interest was helping others, she endeared herself to everyone. From the Freshman to the Almighty Senior, we all loved her. Just glance through her activities, and you'll see that they concerned so unselfishly the welfare of others.

ACTIVITIES: Monitor, German Club, Vice-President and President Social Workers' Club, Representative, Volunteer, Book Lovers' Club, Usher Senior Reception, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Settlement House work.

FUTURE: An understanding heart.

"Idie"

RUTH BRADBURD

1623 North Corlies Street — Commercial

"A merry heart goes all the day,
A sad tires in a mile."

Ruth is a living example of the truth of the old maxim, "Laugh, and the world laughs with you." Her joyousness and buoyancy were the forces that kept her contented in ill weather or fair. And, judging from her success, we're inclined to think she's right!

ACTIVITIES: Representative, Monitor, Bank Officer, Volunteer, Onas Staff, Junior Choral Club, Athletic Club, Swimming Club, Social Workers' Club, Junior and Senior Dramatic Clubs, Cheshire Cheese Club, Book Lovers' Club.

FUTURE: Coin Collector.

HOBBY: Dancing.

ANNABELLE BRAMAN

4754 North Warnock Street — Commercial

"Ever in motion, blithesome and cheery,
Still climbing heavenward; never aweary,
Glad of all weathers, still seeming best,
Upward or downward, motion thy rest."

The proverb, "You can't be in two places at once," met its exception in Annabelle. Her velocity of movement was phenomenal. And, because of her constant flitting hither and thither, she was "in on the know" as regards school affairs. What Annabelle couldn't tell you—well, was none of your business!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Aid Club, Athletic Club, Social Workers' Club, Volunteer, Monitor, Swimming Club, Bank Clerk, Cheshire Cheese Club, Junior and Senior Dramatic Clubs, Captain Usher Senior Reception, Onas Exchange Editor, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Trying to sing.

FUTURE: Super Politician.

"Ann"

"Lil-yan"

LILYAN BREGMAN

2215 Ridge Avenue — Commercial

"There's a long, long trail a-winding,
Up the pathway of success;
But we know that you will trod it,
For you've always done your best."

For a good student and a genial friend, you have but to go where the laughter is loudest to find Lilyan. She was indeed a friend in need, and where is there a greater treasure?

ACTIVITIES: Junior Choral Club, Bank Officer, Swimming Club, Vice-President Social Workers' Club, President Cheshire Cheese Club, Business Manager Onas Staff, Volunteer, Commencement Usher, Monitor.

HOBBY: Trying to eat lots and stay thin.

FUTURE: Perfect 36.

MARY ANNE BRENNEMAN

7446 Fayette Street — Art and Home Economics

"'While fishing one day in the usual way,'
Is a story we've often been told;
That's where she excells,
But dunt esk how she spells,
We hope she improves e'er she's old."

Scene: Street in Washington.
Time: May 6, 1930.
Characters: Girls of William Penn.
First Girl: "Where in the world is Anne?"
Voice (three blocks away): "I'm coming!"

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Captain Volunteer, Senior Reception, Dramatic Club, Swimming Club.

HOBBY: Dogs.

FUTURE: Zoo caretaker.

"An"

"Bunny"

HENRIETTA BRODSKY

785 South 3rd Street — Commercial

"Pleasingly plump,
Always spry,
Ready with a comment,
When a lesson's dry."

Yetta never missed an opportunity to express her candid opinion on any subject under class discussion. Her lengthy discussions received silent cheers on days when a test was imminent.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: "Swell" stenog.

RUTH BROOKS

898 Scattergood Street — Commercial

"Ruth's name serves to bring to mind
A picturesque country scene.
And she, herself, is just as mild,
As calm, and as serene."

Those who knew Ruth, know the truth of every word said above. She has something, however, that a country scene has not, and that is personality. She was always ready to join in any fun going on, and just as ready to help in any of the irksome tasks presented to us.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Vice-President and Secretary Plant Lovers' Club, Monitor, Volunteer, Representative, Spanish Club, Glee Club, Social Worker, Library Club, Senior Reception, Bank Officer, Typing Committee, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Duke Ellington.

FUTURE: Lullaby singer.

"Rufus"

"Brownie"

EVELYN BROWN

719 Catherine Street — Commercial

"Who was the quietest girl in this town?
Gentle, self-possessed Evelyn Brown."

Fair Evelyn has always, as far back as we can remember, been shy and retiring. She did her share of the work so quietly that we often wondered how she managed to keep so busy. Perhaps it is modesty that makes her so quiet. Whatever it is, we wish we possessed it.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Sculptoring.

FUTURE: Sculptoress.

"Bulletin"

ROSE BULOTIN

2440 South Fairhill Street — Academic Vocational Arts

"Ah! Muses send an inspiration
From the field of beauty;
To a girl whose great desire
Is to paint and paint."

We appreciated your contribution of bits of art. We are hoping that your contributions will be a source of pleasure to the world you are about to enter.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Onas Art Staff, Art Club, Captain Monitor, Cheshire Cheese Club, Choral Club, School Art League, Art Committee, Monitor.

HOBBY: Singing.

FUTURE: Artist supreme.

"Mim"

MIRIAM CARR

1503 North 17th Street — Academic

"There's nothing she can't do,
This sport so loyal and so true;
Physics, games or what have you,
Find her happy and never blue."

Some day we're going to solve this puzzle, "How can one girl possess so much charm, personality, and mental attributes and still be a human being?" Sounds impossible, but Miriam certainly combines all these successfully. She always came out on top in everything. Remember English and Physics?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Glee Club, Social Workers' Club, Swimming Club, Hockey Club, Leaders' Club, Book Lovers' Club, Senior Reception, Baseball Club, Archive Committee, Representative, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Monitor.

HOBBY: Air-minded.

FUTURE: Easy text book writer.

ELEANOR F. CHESNEY

2202 Ridge Avenue — Commercial

"Here's to the hand that holds the quill,
The literary height.
May it continue in its work
Till all things fade from sight."

Eleanor has succeeded, during these four years, in distinguishing herself along the literary line. As Editor-in-Chief, she gave her all; as a scholar she can well be proud; and her friendship was unexcelled.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Book Lovers' Council, Contemporary Club, Cheshire Cheese Club, Archive Committee, Editor-in-Chief Onas, Monitor, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Building dream castles—they're usually shattered!

FUTURE: A deep dark mystery.

"Lorrie"

"Re"

MARY CHIALASTRI

760 South Mervine Street — Home Economics-Academic

"She who is attentive
Is always rewarded."

Mary listened very carefully in class. Perhaps she'll be listening in a few years to come, too, but to someone else—"the one and only." We're sure that "certain party" will be very much pleased with one who sympathizes with her ears as well as with her tongue.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Monitor, Book Lovers' Club, Spanish Club, Art Club, Students' Aid Club.

HOBBY: Sewing.

FUTURE: Broadcaster.

RUTH DIANE CHIGER

2935 West Girard Avenue — Commercial

"Quickly she spoke,
Wittily she'd joke.
Ruth is a girl
Loved by all folk."

Ruth's spontaneous sense of humor and ready wit were the only bright spots in many a dull day. Will we ever get over laughing at her predicament in the Senior Reception when she cavorted, trouserless, over the stage?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Monitor, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Cheshire Cheese, Social Workers' Club, Book Lovers' Council, Scout, Author of Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Cracking jokes.

FUTURE: Editor of Joke Books.

"Chig"

"Tress"

THERESA ANASTASIA CHLETCOS

1008 Pine Street — Academic

"Earthly power doth then show likest God's,
When mercy seasons justice."

Theresa is our conception of a perfect girl, and excelled in all fields. She put forth her hand many times to help weak girls do right during her stay on the Court. As a Plant Lover, she just couldn't be beat. Her conscientious work for that club will go down in Monitor, President and Secretary Plant Lovers' Club, Treasurer Art Club, Bank Officer, Associate Judge, Chairman of Study Hall, Cap and Gown Committee.

HOBBY: Horseback Riding.

FUTURE: Agriculturist.
its history.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative,

LILLIAN JOSEPHINE CLEAGE

826 North 24th Street — Art and Home Economics

"Who always wished that she were small?
Who should be proud that she is tall?
Miss Lillian.
Who's Paderewski's rival now?
Who knows her vitamines—and how?
Our Lillian!"

Whenever you need an accompanist, soloist, composer or even a cook, just ask Miss Regan about Lillian. And would you believe it, she belonged to the Mathematics Club also? Righto!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Swimming Club, Book Lovers' Club, Mathematics Club, Glee Club, Social Workers' Club, Senior Reception, Cap and Gown Committee.

HOBBY: Automobiles.

FUTURE: Collector of Austins.

"Lil"

"Mar"

MARGARET COBB

1806 North 27th Street — Commercial

M argaret is musical,
A nd art loving too.
R ight in her judgment,
G iven frankly to you.
A side from her manner, she's
R eally not so mild.
E ach time she hears an orchestra
T hen she gets almost wild.

Margaret is tall, slim and fair, with an English sense of humor. Even though she hadn't the weakness of "falling" for her teachers, she walked off with quite satisfactory marks.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Book Lovers' Club, Cheshire Cheese Club, Special, Volunteer, Senior Reception, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Artist.

MILDRED COHN

2949 Oxford Street — Academic

"Here's a girl whose efforts are
A help to all the school.
What other place, then, could be set
For her, except to rule?"

Mildred was our own exponent of "It"—a veritable personality girl. She laughed her way into everyone's good will, and left behind her a trail of admiring and well-wishing hearts.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Monitor, Senator, Vice-President Students' Association, President Students' Association, Athletic Club, French Club, Glee Club, President Junior and Senior Dramatic Club, Senior Reception, Archive Committee, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Playing ball.

FUTURE: Interior Decorator.

"Minnid"

ANNA MAE CRAWFORD

1515 West Pike Street — Academic

A—mbitious
N—ice
N—eat
A—ctive

Anna is another of Uncle Sam's musically inclined daughters. Although she loves reading and smiles occasionally, her main delight is practicing music. She intends entering a conservatory of music. Lots of luck, Anna!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Book Lovers' Club, Chemistry Club, Senior Choral Club.

HOBBY: Music.

FUTURE: The World's Poet of the Organ.

FRANCES D'ALONZO

1023 West Columbia Avenue — Art and Home Economics

"France is always sparkling and gay Quickly and brightly talking away."

We all liked Frances for her alert and bright ways. She was ever ready with a smile and a cheerful word for everyone. We'll miss you, Frances.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Art Club, Book Lovers' Club, Chairman Red Cross Club.

HOBBY: Music.

FUTURE: Hostess.

"France"

"Em"

EMMA DASCH

3804 Poplar Street — Commercial

"Emma is just and true,
You'll never see her blue;
For arguing, she's just right,
She'll make anyone see light."

For an authority on Emma's helpfulness and willingness to work, we need turn to her teachers; should they have the opportunity of voicing their opinions, Emma's true worth would come to light. We wish her success in her matrimonial voyage.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Spanish Club, Art Lovers' Club, Social Workers' Club, Senior Chorus, Chemistry Club.

HOBBY: Movies.

FUTURE: (Mrs.?)

ANNA DAVIDOV

5010 North Boudinot Street — Commercial

"Good sport? You bet!
Taken? Not yet.
Clever? I'll say!
Funny? All Day."

Anna was our all around good pal—a joker who knew how to laugh when the joke was on her. Her gifts lay in more than one direction, too, as any of her many friends can tell you.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Captain of Volunteers, Student Aid Club, Social Workers' Club, Art Club, Athletic Club.

HOBBY: Holding on to roller skates.

FUTURE: Champion roller skater.

"Davie"

"Gus"

GUSSIE DICHTER

1356 South Street — Academic

"Gussie has personality, charm and poise,
Breaking male hearts is one of her joys."

Gussie was unbegrudgingly bestowed with personality and good looks. She was the kind of a girl we all like, but very seldom find.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Monitor, Volunteer, Special, Bank Officer, Glee Club, Hikers' Club, Social Workers' Club, French Club, Students' Aid, Chemistry Club.

HOBBY: U, +

FUTURE: Too deep.

SAYDE DRANOW

227 North 30th Street — Retail Selling

"Good-natured and kind,
The sort of pal we like to find."

Beware of the time when Sayde tries to sell you something, for she is experienced in the saleswoman's line. We hope the future holds something good in store for you, Sayde.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Swimming.

FUTURE: Deep sea diver.

"Syd"

"Faygilla"

FANNIE DUBIN

1551 North Franklin Street — Commercial

"Fay was always smiling,
Never blue,
If you were so good-natured
You'd be stout, too."

Fay had a wonderful ability to make friends. Probably the reason for this was because she was so sympathetic with the girls, especially on the topic of "dieting." And say, miniature golf is bound to bring good results—stick to it!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Spanish Club, Hikers' Club, Mathematics Club, Book Lovers' Club, Volunteer, Swimming Club, Social Worker Captain.

HOBBY: Miniature Golf.

FUTURE: Mitchell Fletcher's dieting expert.

GERTRUDE EISENBERG

1013 North 40th Street — Commercial

"Smiling, gracious and benign,
In English she did always shine.
Reserved, dainty, lovable too,
To all a loyal friend and true."

Gertrude's favorite haunt was 120, where the Book Lovers held sway, and books galore abound. Wonder what she'll do when there are no more books to read? Perish the thought! Never fear, Gert, should that terrible calamity impend, we'll stave off the evil day and write one for you!

ACTIVITIES: Associate Judge, Representative, Captain Monitor, Volunteer, Book Lovers' President, Secretary and Treasurer, Usher Senior Reception, Usher Commencement, Chairman of Study Hall.

HOBBY: Reading.

FUTURE: Undecided.

"Gert"

"Ee"

EVA FAGGEN

3212 Fontain Street — Academic

"Her voice is low and musical,
In singing she's a wow!
So when it's time to sing your notes,
Our Eve will show you how."

If you want to get some inside information about Eva, just ask Miss Regan. She was always reciting French or singing the latest song, and whichever you interrupted, you got your money's worth.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senior Reception, Glee Club, French Club, President, Vice-President of Mathematics Club.

HOBBY: Music.

FUTURE: Better'n Paderewski.

ANNA FELDMAN

1810 North 31st Street — Commercial

"If Anna's your friend, be happy;
You should be happy, indeed.
Her advice is A-1 at all times—
At all times her advice we heed.

Although Anna is quiet and shy, we know that in order to do work successfully, one does not necessarily have to be loud. If ever help was needed, Anna was the one for us. Ann gladly shared her knowledge with every one.

ACTIVITIES: Glee Club, First Aid, Students' Aid, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Music.

FUTURE: Mother of twelve.

"Ann"

"Dot"

DOROTHY FERRY

2125 North Lambert Street — Commercial

"Dues! Dues! Dues! Dues!
We usually hear her say,
According to Dot, it's the woman
Who pays—and pays—and pays."

Dot's job of extracting money from our erstwhile Seniors grew increasingly difficult since the tariff was passed. She did not permit her numerous distractions to deaden her sense of humor, however. Dot was always ready with a quip which brought a burst of laughter from the girls and a reluctant smile from the teacher.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senior Class Treasurer, Chairman Advertising Committee, Representative, Monitor, Volunteer, Social Worker, Senior Dramatic Club, Bank Receiver, Art Club, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: "Making Up."

FUTURE: Behind the footlights.

FANNIE FOOTER

629 Poplar Street — Commercial

"Conscientious to a fault,
Striving hard without a halt."

Fannie never gave up anything she couldn't do. She tried it again and again, and usually succeeded, too. She was very ambitious to please everyone, and was loved by us all.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Archive Committee, Bank Clerk.

HOBBY: Tennis.

FUTURE: Fair, but unsettled.

"Fan"

"Ru"

RUTH FORD

1811 North Van Pelt Street — Home Economics

"Ruth was sweet;
Ruth was fine;
She liked to go places,
And have a nice time."

Ruth was one of those dashing dames that participated a great deal in the affairs of big busy, business barons, etc., and was also affiliated with a certain Chrysler roadster. Nuff sed. At any rate, we wish Ruth all the success in the world after leaving the old Alma Mater.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association.

HOBBY: Piano Playing.

FUTURE: Galli Curci's accompanist.

VIVIEN FRAZIER

2231 Master Street — Art and Home Economics

"If you want a girl that's snappy,
One who's always looking happy;
Try Vivien.
Or if you crave musical glory,
Here again the same old story;
Try Viaien."

Vivien was one of the most jovial girls in our class. She was determined, co-operative and in fact an all around pal. Ask Ella! Even though she did arrive in the morning about 8.29½, we will forgive her and wish her the best of luck when she enters Lincoln Hospital for nursing.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Chemistry Club, Monitor, Glee Club.

HOBBY: Giving good advice.

FUTURE: Trained Nurse.

MARY FRUMAN

735 South 3rd Street — Commercial

"Mary, Mary, quite contrary,
How do your friendships grow?"
"Kind deeds and smiles,
Some love and wiles,
And that's how my friendships grow."

Mary was the one we all turned toward when "a feller needs a friend." She always had a cheering word and a pat on the back for one feeling down in the mouth.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers, Spanish Club, Scout, Entry Clerk, Monitor, Late Monitor, Volunteer, Special, Students' Aid Club.

HOBBY: Drinking milk.

FUTURE: World's Champion Typist.

ANNA FULLER

712 South Chadwick Street — Art and Home Economics

"With merry laughter light and gay,
She tripped along in her carefree way."

Anna was a girl whom we all knew and liked. She was a jolly member of our class. Books very seldom burdened this maiden. Nevertheless, we wish her all the success in the world.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Athletic Club, Basketball Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Aesthetic Dancer.

"Ann"

"Yitka"

YETTA GELFAND

516 Delancy Street — Commercial

"In regard to her size,
You need feel no alarm,
When you shorten the figure,
You heighten the charm."

The old saying, "All good things come in small packages," certainly did prove itself in Yetta. Tiny and diminutive as she was, we found all sterling qualities concentrated in her.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Spanish Club, Students' Aid Club, Social Workers' Club, Bank Officer, Monitor, Swimming Club, Volunteer, Late Monitor.

HOBBY: Getting tall.

FUTURE: Orator.

FAY GISTRAK

3343 Ridge Avenue — Commercial

"Fay's evenings are crammed with dates,
But not the History kind you know;
Some day shall see the friendly fates
Having Fay as their star of the show."

Fay has a very charming personality, which, we hope, she will always use to the best advantage. Her winning ways helped her to pass through many trying days easily, while we suffered in silence.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Monitor, Late Monitor, Bank Officer, Student Aid Scout, Book Lovers' Council, Athletic Club, Swimming Club, Volunteer, Plant Lovers' Club, Senior Reception, Hockey Club, Hiking Club, Social Hour Club, Theatre Club.

HOBBY: Hymns (?) and Hims.

FUTURE: Making Hymns.

"Trix"

"Mol"

MOLLIE GLAZER

923 Vine Street — Retail Selling

"Cute and pretty, rather witty,
Full of pep and poise,
If you don't believe what we say,
We'll refer you to the boys."

If all the girls in our school possessed Molly's nature we'd have a regular school of sunshine. Her only drawback was her silence; we didn't see or hear enough of her. She was one of our Retail Selling girls.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Receiving Teller, Entry Clerk, Representative, Students' Aid.

HOBBY: Traveling.

FUTURE: Trading with China and Paris.

ETHYL GOLDBERG

4846 North Franklin Street — Commercial

"Always jolly, always gay,
May her life e'er be that way,
While its sorrows and despairs
Pass her by with all its cares."

Ethyl appeared to be an all-around sport, and went in for tennis and dancing. She had a notorious reputation for class room mischief, making us laugh continually with her jokes. Her chief complaint was that of constantly being nominated as Secretary, because the girls knew she hated to write minutes.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association.

HOBBY: Making Curls.

FUTURE: Perpetual Motion.

"Et"

"Rene"

IRENE GOLDBERG

729 South 4th Street — Commercial

"Unusual and attractive is Irene,
As pleasing a picture as you've ever seen,
She is both polite and sweet,
A girl you'd always like to meet."

Not only do Irene's tastes point towards the above fields, but her dramatic ability shines just as brightly. Her slim figure enabled her to eat cream puffs with an easy conscience—something many of us would like to do.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Club, Social Workers' Club, Book Lovers' Club, Monitor, Volunteer, Receiving Teller, Entry Clerk, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Horseback riding.

FUTURE: Chorus girl.

FRANCES B. GOLDMAN

248 South Street — Commercial

"With gilded pen
In gifted hand,
She writes of Men
And Things."

Frances—the girl with the personality pen point. And literary ability wasn't her only asset, either. As a friend and worker, she was supreme; as a writer, we know that her wish to see her name adorning the covers of "best sellers" will some day be realized.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Representative, Book Lovers' Club, Swimming Club, Cheshire Cheese Club, Onas Staff, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Collecting rejection slips.

FUTURE: Female O. Henry (?).

"France"

"Lil"

LILLIAN GOLDMAN

5441 Florence Avenue — Retail Selling

"Very quiet and rather neat,
The kind of a girl you like to meet."

Lillian's industrious work kept her from growing intimate with the majority of the girls in our class. Nevertheless, those with whom she came in contact with can readily speak of her devotion and steadfastness. She was a real friend in need.

ACTIVITIES: Volunteer, Banker, Social Workers' Club, S. A. Monitor, Late Monitor, Students' Aid Club.

HOBBY: Looking for a job.

FUTURE: Buyer.

ROSALIE GOLDMAN

925 South 23rd Street — Academic

"The world is full of roses,
And the roses full of dew,
And the dew is full of love,
Which goes from us to you."

The words, "I don't know," weren't found in this charming maiden's vocabulary. She always had an answer for every question (even though it was not always right). Whatever Rosalie intends to do, she will do well.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Book Lovers' Club, Monitor, Social Worker, Chemistry Club, Students' Aid Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Happy wife.

"Lee"

"Fae"

FANNY A. GOLDSTEIN

958 North 6th Street — Commercial

"With a shrug and an 'I don't care' expression,
Fae roamed the walls of learning with this impression."

Fae had a disposition and nature that couldn't be beat. Ask "him." Such qualities as we seek in friends are heaped upon her.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Club, Social Workers' Club, Special, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Monitor.

HOBBY: Miniature Golf.

FUTURE: Lullaby singer.

SYLVIA GOLDSTEEN

844 South 2nd Street — Commercial

"He that is thy friend indeed,
He will help thee in thy need;
If thou sorrow, he will weep,
If thou wake, he cannot sleep."

Sylvia was one of those unusual persons (and you will always find just one in every classroom) who followed the teacher's instructions to the letter. Sylvia and Success—two words beginning with the same letter. We shall leave it with Sylvia to make them synonymous.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Junior and Senior Glee Club, Students' Aid Club, Freshman Reception, Student Aid Scout, Orchestra, Volunteer, Receiving Teller, Monitor.

HOBBY: Playing violin.

FUTURE: Model for Wm. Penn girls to follow.

"Sylvania"

"Et"

ETHEL IRENE GONICK

1930 North Stanley Street — Commercial

"Rather quiet,
Always true;
A friend in need,
There's Ethel for you."

Ethel did her work silently, but she did it well. Although not given to talking in class, she surprised some of us by her ready answers when called upon to recite. Her calm demeanor and hearty friendship will not soon be forgotten.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Club, Volunteer, Late Monitor, Bank Officer, Social Workers' Club.

HOBBY: Smiling.

FUTURE: Endurance typist.

EDNA GOTTREICH

1807 North 21st Street — Art and Home Economics

"Fingers nimble
Fingers creative,
Fashioning dainty gowns,
To clothe milady."

Edna had a genius in handling those tiny implements, needle and thread. We can have the assurance that some day modish ladies will no longer need to go to Paris for stylish garments, but will flock to Mme. Edna's Shoppe, where they will be able to satisfy their slightest whim and fancy.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Spanish Club, Book Lovers' Club, Hikers' Club, Chairman Cap and Gown Committee.

HOBBY: Music.

FUTURE: Modiste.

"Ed"

"Jul"

JULIA GRANT

2025 Montgomery Avenue — Academic Music

"There's a strain of music floating,
It seems to be quite near;
Jule is playing her violin,
How pleasing it is to the ear."

A good musician was Julia. Music hath charms—especially with Julia at the violin. An ambitious, hard-working girl, who is heading well along the road to success.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Glee Club, Orchestra.

HOBBY: Walking.

FUTURE: Champion endurance walker.

EDYTHE GRATZ

750 South 4th Street — Commercial

"Tiny, vivacious Edythe Gratz,
With eyes of sparkling sheen,
We wonder what would become of her,
If she didn't have her Irene."

This very attractive young miss was indeed attached to her friend Irene. Their friendship was invincible. Edythe's smile was enough to charm anyone. Perhaps she was not among the first in her studies, but she still holds her own. "Nuff said."

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Scout, Receiving Teller, Entry Clerk, Social Workers' Club, Swimming Club, Book Lovers' Club, Hockey Club, Senior Reception, Social Hour Club, French Club, Theater Club.

HOBBY: Letting her nails grow.

FUTURE: Janet Gaynor's double.

"Edie"

"Fay"

FANNIE B. GREENBERG

2031 North 33rd Street — Commercial

"Sincere, trustworthy, kind and true,
Merry, vivacious, and a good sport too."

We've earnestly looked up in the Standard Dictionary, but can't seem to be able to find any more suitable adjectives. The ones we have are descriptive enough, for she's an all-round girl. Incidentally, we might add that Fannie's a recruit from the ranks of Girls' High.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, First Aid Club, Bank Clerk.

HOBBY: Reading.

FUTURE: Editor of Joke Book.

FLORENCE GREMLICH

2400 Nicholas Street — Commercial

"Remember her cunning voice and manner?
Remember her smile, as bright as a banner?
When Florence smiled, we all smiled too,
And promptly forgot we ever were blue."

A perennial grin was the characteristic by which we all knew Florence. To see her without it would mean that something terrible had happened, or that some disaster was imminent. Nothing ever happened, so we guess she still has that grin.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Entry Clerk, Receiving Teller, German Club, Vice-President and President Inter-High School German Club, Typing Committee.

HOBBY: Tying.

FUTURE: President's private secretary.

"Floss"

"Eve"

EVA GROSSMAN

2354 South 7th Street — Commercial

"As a worker—proficient,
As a friend—superb."

Judging by Eva's athletic activities, she was an all-round sport, always hiking, swimming, or what have you. She was never too busy to make and keep friends, however. The diamond ring on Eva's left hand has been the envy of many girls. Oh, well—"All comes to him who waits!"

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Hikers' Club, Bank Officer, Swimming Club, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Athletics.

FUTURE: Another housewife.

MARIAN SARAH GURK

3116 West Clifford Street — Academic

"Shy little Marian and her winning ways,
Coaxes and teases and steals hearts away."

Marian learned that the art of coaxing could be used to advantage, so she used it with expert skill. Still, she worked and strove for the goal which she set, and usually won it, too. Ready with a helping hand almost before you knew it, she won our hearts, and welcome.

ACTIVITIES. Students' Association, Treasurer Social Hour Club, Junior French Club, Vice-President, Secretary Book Lovers' Council, Treasurer Plant Lovers' Club, Volunteer, Ring Committee, Senior Reception Usher, Representative, Monitor, Prom Committee.

HOBBY: Slow—but sure.

FUTURE: Another Cupid's victim.

"Mar"

"Haage"

EMMA CAROLINE HAAGE

1115 West Girard Avenue — Academic

"See her on a basketball court, know she is an ace;
See her in a gym class, know she sets the pace;
See her in the corridor, get her friendly smile,
Then you'll know just why we say, 'Haage' all the while."

From the gymnasium to the court seemed just as far as from the lunchroom to the study hall. But Emma was just the girl who excelled in both.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Associate Judge, Representative, Volunteer, Swimming Club, Leaders' Club, Hockey, Basketball, Track Team, Junior Dramatic Club, Vice-President Athletic Club, Book Lovers' Club, Bank Officer, Exchange Editor of Onas.

HOBBY: Sports.

FUTURE: Gym Instructress.

BEATRICE HARMON

1534 West Page Street — Academic

"Care to our coffin adds a nail, no doubt,
And every laugh, so merry, draws one out."

Beatrice was one of the highly efficient messengers of Ol' Man Sunshine. Anyone looking for Beatrice trusted to her ears, not to her eyes, and when sounds of hearty laughter reached the searcher's auditory organs, she knew the quest was over. Keep it up, Beatrice!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Bank Teller, Volunteer, Chemistry Club, Spanish Club, Secretary of Senior Dramatic Club, Senior Reception, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Keeping herself to herself.

FUTURE: Undertaker.

"Bea"

"Ann"

ANNETTE HARRIS

839 South Street — Commercial

"Ability, wit, and pep galore,
Could any girl wish for more?"

Annette certainly could dance. Do you remember her in the 12A Class Stunt during the May fete? "Sing, You Sinners." Oh, boy. Go dancing through life, and you'll certainly get along, Ann.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, French Club, Students' Aid Club, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Ann Pennington's successor.

CECELIA HAUSMAN

859 North Franklin Street — Commercial

"Of every act, the silent part is best,
Of all expression, that which cannot be expressed."

Cecelia was one of our hardest workers and best students. Her ability to foresee a test was uncanny, and endeared her to all. Always ready and willing to do a required duty, she also was at the fore whenever an added responsibility presented itself. Cecelia, a toast to you!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers' Club, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Monitor, Late Monitor, Typing Committee.

HOBBY: Walking.

FUTURE: Bookkeeper.

"Syd"

"30"

EDITH HELLER

1306 Master Street — Retail Selling

"Edith's words may be few and far between,
But when she says them she knows what they mean."

Edith has always managed to let us hear just enough from her to make us want to hear more. If she were willing she could let you know that under her demure smile and bashful countenance was a whole lot worth talking about.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid, Social Workers' Club, Hikers, Monitor.

HOBBY: Theatre.

FUTURE: Owner of Stanley Theatre.

LILLIAN HELMUS

2109 North 16th Street — Retail Selling

"She always has a smile,
She newer has a frown;
You know what our motto is,
'You can't keep a good girl down'."

We sure will miss Lil's description of the boys at Gimbel's store. Here's hoping they'll always be, "Tall, dark and handsome." Perhaps Lil's ability to dance well had something to do with her gift of attraction.

ACTIVITIES: Student's Association, Vice-President Plant Lovers' Club, Students' Aid, Special, Monitor, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Assistant Superintendent at Gimbel's store.

"Lil"

"Billie"

WILLIE MAE HENDERSON

2213 Master Street — Art and Home Economics

"Some men turn poets over night,
Others write and write,
Before their fame is won.
Willie Mae shall be a poetess,
Ere her career is done."

Sensible, conscientious, energetic—in short, all the characteristics of the "Perfect Student" can be attributed to Willie Mae.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Bank Officer, Chemistry Club, Volunteer, Monitor, Athletic Club.

HOBBY: Sports.

FUTURE: Athletic Instructor.

REBA HENKEN

1605 North Franklin Street — Academic

"Dignity plus caprice,
Ease in gaining E's;
Lurking humor in her eyes,
With a look both witty and wise."

A talent for everything accurate, describes Reba's ability. She has intermingled a taste for the Dramatic Club, and a love for literature, and does quite a bit of writing herself. In short, Reba has everything we ever aimed for.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Plant Lovers' Club, Captain Monitor, Contemporary Club, Representative, Chemistry Club, Senior Dramatic Club, Cheshire Cheese Club, Onas, Senator, Archive Committee, Volunteer, Glee Club.

HOBBY: Having a catch.

FUTURE: City Editor.

"Ripples"

"Lou"

ETHEL LOUISE HENRY

603 Addison Street — Commercial

"I'd rather be small and shine,
Than great, and cast a shadow."

Louise was one of those "strong, silent girls," who somehow succeed in accomplishing an endless amount of work. She was always non-commital as to her desires and ambitions, and kept her thoughts where they would remain intact—in the recesses of her heart. We don't know what you want to do in life, Louise, but whatever it is, you'll do it! We know that your wagon is hitched to a star, and that you will not swerve from your course.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers' Club, Scout, Late Monitor, Monitor, Volunteer, Secretary French Club.

HOBBY: Playing.

FUTURE: Model for bathing suits.

FLORA HERMAN

1103 Spruce Street. — Academic

"He that soweth bountifully
Shall reap also bountifully."

Flora's just a newcomer to our class. She's making high school in three and a half years and her record is one to be proud of indeed. Lots of luck in your future work!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Junior French Club, Monitor, Glee Club, Book Lovers' Council, Representative, Captain Monitor, Volunteer, President French Club, Onas Staff, Theatre Club.

HOBBY: Horseback riding.

FUTURE: Playwright.

"Flora"

"El"

ELLA K. HEWLETT

5417 Laurens Street. Art and Home Economics

"A great big heart,
A great big smile,
Keeping happy all the while,
That's Ella."

We need not stop a moment to introduce E. K. H. She is well known if only for her happy smile and generosity. We are ready to contradict the people that say best goods comes in small packages, by using E. K. H. for an illustration. Ella's aim is to enter Cheyney and specialize in A. & H. E. A worthwhile aim, eh?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Scout; Book Lovers' Club, Chemistry Club, Senior Choral Club, Monitor, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Waltzing with "Lic."

FUTURE: Trained Nurse.

CHRISTINE HILL

1824 North 21st Street Art and Home Economics

"Sew on, fair maid, nor yet regret;
You've filled a place we won't forget."

Who is it that makes such dainty and lovely garments for evening wear, etc.? Why, Christine, of course. Deanie is one of the best seamstresses in our class. We hope with a thread of perseverance and a needle of determination she'll patch up all the broken places in the road to success.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid, Senior Choral Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Dressmaker.

"Deanie"

"Hirshey"

MAE HIRCHFELD

3050 Clifford Street Commercial

"She is vivacious, bright and gay,
Laughing troubles and cares away.
You can't be sad
When Mae is glad."

Mae was one of those girls who spread cheer and sunshine. Gloomy thoughts were locked away when Mae came on the scene. Good luck to you!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Student Aid Scout, Social Workers' Club, Monitor, Senior French Club, Volunteer, Late Monitor, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Canoeing.

FUTURE: Life saver.

REBECCA EDITH HIRSCH

1826 North Natrona Street — Commercial

"Good things come in small packages
Has oft been said on this earth;
'Tis not true, we find, when looking at Becky,
For she's a huge package of mirth."

Becky sure provided the "spice of life" in our classes. She didn't believe that "there's a time to work and a time to play," for she usually combined both, to our delight. Remember bookkeeping? Keep on laughing, Becky, and the world will laugh with you.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Captain Monitor, Captain Late Monitor, Volunteer, Senior Reception, Book Lovers' Council, Treasurer Contemporary Club, Advertising Committee.

HOBBY: Dieting.

FUTURE: Famous divorce monitor.

"Bea"

"Sally"

SARAH ANN HOCH

1621 North 27th Street — Commercial

"Sweeter than sweet and truer than blue,
She loves all the world and you—
She laughs at care and she speaks with cheer,
May she go on thus from year to year."

Care-free and happy-go-lucky Sally, she never seemed to worry, for she hid all the clouds behind a smile. She was never in a hurry—all the time in the world—for there was a steady, sure method in her slowness. Her generosity sometimes seemed at fault, for she took the whole world as a friend. When she smiled you answered and forgave all her faults—just glad to be with her again.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Archive Committee, Senior Reception, Cheshire Cheese Club, German Club.

HOBBY: Walking and whistling.

FUTURE: Silent admirer.

VASHTI D. HOOPER

1909 Fitzwater Street — Commercial

V—irtuous
A—miable
S—incere
H—onorable
T—olerant
I—ndustrious

The one and only modern Vashti! The Touchstone of "Our Four Years at High School." Her wishes to be an actress were given trial—don't you remember the Senior Reception? Our Vashtism. A very droll girl, indeed, spreading mirth around the halls.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Junior and Senior Choral Clubs, Volunteer, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Reading.

FUTURE: Jazz singer.

"Tye"

"Lefty Rosie"

ROSE JACOBSON

941 North Franklin Street — Retail Selling

"Quiet and shy at first she seems—
Believe not this deception.
She's peppy and cheerful as the sun's beams
After close inspection."

Rose seemed disposed to be very quiet, but after you knew her you found her very jolly. Could she give and take a joke? Ask not.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Bank Officer, Monitor, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Looking for a future.

FUTURE: Looking for a hobby.

BESSIE JOSEL

236 South 10th Street — Commercial

"Here's a friend
Fair and true,
Esteemed and beloved
By all she knew."

Bessie was everybody's pal. She thought nothing of sharing some of her ample knowledge to help her classmates who were not so generously gifted. We all were grateful to her for her aid in those hectic moments preceding a test.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers' Club, Students' Aid Club, First Aid, Receiving Teller, Entry Clerk, Monitor, Volunteer, Junior French Club, Violin Club.

HOBBY: Playing the violin.

FUTURE: Feminine Jascha Heifitz.

"Pep"

"Sue"

SUSAN KAIT

334 Milbank Road, Stonehurst, Pa. — Commercial

"There is no virtue so truly great and God-like as justice."

We can use nothing but superlatives in speaking of Susan. Since she was with us she won the respect, admiration and love of every girl in the class. She excelled in everything, yet was the most unassuming girl we knew. Acquaintanceship with her was to be pointed to with pride.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Chief Justice of Students' Association, Associate Judge, Hikers' Club, Swimming, Basketball, Baseball and Hockey Clubs, Plant Lovers' Club, Book Lovers' Council, Leaders' Club, Representative, Athletic Club Secretary, Monitor, Volunteer, Bank Officer.

HOBBY: Sports.

FUTURE: First Woman Chief Justice of United States.

SARAH LILLIAN KATZ

5337 Columbia Avenue — Commercial

"Laughing, happy, all day long,
Her life is just like one grand song;
Her humor, vigor, and her pep
Have never been surpassed as yet."

Sarah was the kind of girl we always wanted to be. She was a gay and jolly pal. Do you remember our famous Indian dancer in the Senior Reception? That was our Sarah.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Receiving Teller, Entry Clerk, Social Worker, Glee Club, Art Club, Spanish Club, Students' Aid, Social Hour Club, Senior Reception, Dramatic Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Indian dancing.

"Sar"

"Mimi"

MARIAN KAVITSKY

1112 South Street — Academic

"Always witty, always gay,
Always has something nice to say;
You would rave if you knew her,
For she has a wonderful sense of humor."

Mimi is one of those girls who goes through life merrily, laughing her way through almost any situation. She loved to joke, as we learned, but was the best little sport if the joke was turned on the joker, as it sometimes was. She was one girl you could have a good time with.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Captain Monitor, Receiving Teller, Junior and Senior French Club, Chemistry Club, Social Workers' Club.

HOBBY: Making sarcastic remarks to "Gertrude E."

FUTURE: Happy days.

ALICE KELLEY

1504 Catherine Street — Academic

"Alice is a friendly girl,
Ne'er known to rage or weep;
But we recall the adage says,
'Still water oft runs deep.'"

From a glance at Alice you would think she was shy. But just get her in a conversation and you'll find she is a real girl. Alice loves music, and some day we expect to hear of Alice as quite an accomplished musician.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association. Glee Club, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Music.

FUTURE: The people's musician.

"Lightning"

"El"

ELEANOR KORENBLATT

534 West Turner Street — Commercial

"Eleanor's success is due to the fact
That she will aid without a pact;
So whenever you're in trouble's thrall,
Just ask for the greatest helper of them all."

When it comes to being obliging, eager, earnest, and smilingly helpful, Eleanor gets there. She's had her foot in everything we've ever done, from stunts to parties, not spoiling them, but making them benefit by her presence. To know her personally is to enrich yourself with her unselfish character.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers' Club, Plant Lovers' Club, French Club, Monitor, Late Monitor, Volunteer, Senior Reception, Cap and Gown Committee.

HOBBY: Radio Romeos.

FUTURE: With Mildred.

BEATRICE KOSOFSKY

1916 North 31st Street — Commercial

"It's not the little favors
Or the big things that you do;
The reason that we like you
Is just because you're you."

The pleasant and unassuming ways of Bea are what have helped to make her an ideal friend. Whenever there was any work to be done, she never shirked the hardest task. 'Tis good to be like that.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Aid, Volunteer, Late Monitor, Choral Club, Social Worker Captain.

HOBBY: Day dreaming.

FUTURE: Dreams come true.

"Bea"

"Soph"

SOPHIE S. KRAMER

1424 North Marshall Street — Commercial

"Sophie wanted some weight to lose,
So all sweets and starches she did refuse,
And so today, with a figure neat and new,
She shows us all what self-control can do."

You'll have to let us in to the magic secret, Sophie. How did you ever lose so much weight? Sophie seemed to embody the spirit of cheerfulness, for she was always smiling and full of gay laughter.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers' Club, Chemistry Club, Cheshire Cheese, French Club, Monitor, Volunteer, Late Monitor.

HOBBY: Day dreaming.

FUTURE: Model.

CLARA KUGLER

1828 North Newkirk Street — Commercial

"She did her own work,
Nor had she much to say;
No job did she shirk,
And thus was happy all day."

Clara's quiet disposition and modesty sometimes made it impossible for one to discover her fine qualities. However, when one became acquainted with her, all of her splendid characteristics were brought to the surface, and we discovered—unselfishness, thoughtfulness of others, and willingness to co-operate at all times.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Late Monitor, Volunteer, Bank Clerk, Social Workers, President German Club, Swimming Club.

HOBBY: German.

FUTURE: German text book writer.

"Lolly"

"Franky"

FANNIE KURMAN

2620 Brown Street — Retail Selling

"Her jolly nature,
Bringing cheer,
Has been the same
Every day of the year."

Everybody appreciates Fannie's sense of humor. Along with her sunny nature, she is also very active. As Chairman of 2-4 Physiology she will never be forgotten. Her eagerness to serve her class is the cause for her many happy associations with her classmates. Finally, her ability as a salesgirl is unsurpassed.

ACTIVITIES: Swimming Club, Hikers' Club, Students' Aid Club, Students' Association.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Travelers' aid.

REBECCA LABODA

1021 Bainbridge Street — Commercial

"In the line of friendship,
Serene Rebecca stands—
Submissive, gentle, quiet,
The choice of all lands."

Rebecca was never noisy, never obtrusive, but rather retiring and reserved. Her presence was felt, not heard. We have had a very enjoyable four years with her.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Late Monitor.

HOBBY: Trying to get girls to call her Betty.

FUTURE: Helping others.

"Betty"

"Meel"

AMELIA LADEN

2432 South 8th Street — Commercial

"Nimble fingers and nimble eyes
Has our Amelia, so very wise;
Always ready to help in every show,
Always appreciated by all who know."

Everyone knows Amelia. Her fine spirit of co-operation has caught the attention of all. And her playing on the piano! Genius must be her godmother.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Student Aid Scout, Social Worker, Senior Reception, Bank Clerk, Advertising Committee, Monitor.

HOBBY: Trying to find a perfect man.

FUTURE: Organist.

MILDRED LA MOR

706 North 22nd Street — Commercial

"Short stories Mildred did master,
Stories seasoned with humor and love;
We know she can't help succeeding,
For her words fit her thoughts like a glove."

Mildred writes with a sure, masterful touch that could only be achieved by one possessed of unlimited talent and ability—and that she undoubtedly has.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Bank Officer, Monitor, Volunteer, Onas Staff, Art Lovers' Club, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Eating candy.

FUTURE: Editor of "Love Story Magazine."

"Mil"

"Bab"

MARION LANDIS

2821 Diamond Street — Commercial

"Marion was always there with a smile,
With charm and grace and style,
Ready at all times to do her share,
Helping us to forget worry and dull care."

When Marion leaves us the "song will be ended, but the melody will linger on." Marion seemed to know everybody, but how could a girl with the personality Marion possessed fail to make friends?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid, Vice-President Book Lovers' Council, President Contemporary Club, Swimming, First Aid, Ring Committee, Senior Reception, Advertising Committee, Captain Monitor, Volunteer, Late Monitor.

HOBBY: Playing bridge.

FUTURE: Editor of Current Events for "Women's Home Journal."

SOPHIE LAVET

3235 Fontain Street — Commercial

"Seek you someone so unique,
With quite a bit of 'racquet' technique—
One whose friendship is valued by many?
Then stop right here! She's better than any!"

Sophie was in every sense of the term a good sport. You may imply either meaning to "racquet," but tennis was really Sophie's favorite pastime. Perhaps next to that came love-making—in Senior Receptions. Isn't that right, Sophie?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Junior Dramatic, Athletic Club, Basketball Club, French Club, Students' Aid, Hikers' Club, Glee Club, Senior Reception, Plant Lovers', First Aid Club.

HOBBY: Tennis.

FUTURE: Tennis ball chaser.

"Dorry"

DORIS HELENE LEDERMAN

627 East Wyoming Avenue — Academic

"Wrinkled forehead, worried look,
Poring over a Latin book;
Always afraid of flunking a test,
Yet her marks are always the best."

Here is a girl who never succeeded in being quiet, and always announced her presence by either laughing or talking. Never fear for Doris, for she won't be overlooked if she can help it!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Latin Club, Chemistry Club, Social Workers' Club, Volunteer, Contemporary Club, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Paging Esther Miller.

FUTURE: Sticking to Esther.

HELEN LEVINS

271 South 4th Street — Commercial

"Wabbles never squabbled,
But she did enjoy her gobble.
Oh, for a tummy like yours, Helen!"

To think of all the delicious eatables served in our lunch room, we can't blame you for making your hobby "eating." We only wish our mouths could have watered as much as yours did, because then we could have been partners with you in making ourselves happy through our stomachs.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Late Monitor, Monitor, Volunteer, Receiving Teller, Swimming Club, Leader.

HOBBY: Eating.

FUTURE: Dietitian in lunch room of William Penn High School.

"Wabbles"

"Gertie"

GERTRUDE LEVITSKY

3800 Haverford Avenue — Commercial

"Lovely, petite and demure,
Yet lively, to be sure;
Living in clouds above,
Yet willing all to love."

Gertrude had all one could ask any girl to have—splendid character, radiant personality, and valued kindliness. The girls certainly appreciated her, for Gertie possessed every kind of armband imaginable, including that of Senator and Judge.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Glee Club, Hikers' Club, French Club, Late Monitor, Plant Lovers' Club, Volunteer, Senator, Book Lovers' Club, Senior Reception, Associate Judge.

HOBBY: Laughing at jokes.

FUTURE: Stepping out (?).

ISABEL LIEBOWITZ

1118 South Street — Commercial

"Where the streams runneth smoothest,
The water is deepest."

Isabel was a person who always weighed her thoughts before she expressed them, and so whatever she said was well worth listening to.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association.

HOBBY: Being sophisticated.

FUTURE: Stenographer on the "Leviathan."

"Is"

"Lil"

LILLIAN LIEBOWITZ

3129 Clifford Street — Commercial

"What made the adjectives useless,
The flatterer's compliments dumb?
The beauty and style,
And dainty sweet smile
Of Lillian, so full of fun!"

There isn't very much to be said about Lillian because, frankly, everything has already been said over and over again. Your descriptive terms become mild and meek in the face of such opposition. Anyhow, you know that Lillian is just "Lillianish" from the top of her pretty head to the bottom of her toes!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senator, Representative, Monitor, Volunteer, French Club, Original Diggers, Junior and Senior Dramatic Club.

HOBBY: Moving pictures.

FUTURE: A rich man's fancy.

FRANCES LIPPMAN

2121 North Franklin Street — Commercial

"Good things come in small packages, 'tis quoted;
To disprove it is a difficult task to do.
But here appears this young lass
To show us that the theory is untrue."

Frances was one of those girls who was not responsible for noise. She was a hard worker, and certainly deserves credit.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Skating.

FUTURE: Collector of species.

"Fran"

"Chippy"

MARIE LOTARY

620 South Hancock Street — Commercial

"A very pretty little elf,
Who keeps us laughing all the while,
And when exams are handed out
She passes them with a smile."

For all of Marie's careless air, she was one of the best girls we had. Her conversations were always witty, sparkling, and as breezy as the fresh wind, which accounted for, in a small way, her popularity with those who really knew her.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Swimming Club, Book Lovers' Club, Receiving Clerk, Entry Clerk, Volunteer, Monitor, Advertising Committee.

HOBBY: Irritating Helen Levins.

FUTURE: Keeping order (?).

EVA LUTHRAN

622 South 3rd Street — Commercial

"Beautiful faces are those that wear—
It matters little if dark or fair,
Whole-souled honesty printed there."

Eva was one of those rare prodigies who were graduated in three and a half years, and who will always be a source of wonder and awe to us. "Little Eva," as her diminutive stature often leads us to call her, accomplished a difficult feat, and we feel that for her success is just around the corner.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Special, Librarian, Monitor, Representative, German Club, Volunteer, Chemistry Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Beauty specialist.

"Eve"

"Smiles"

RUTH V. MACK

1615 North 12th Street — Home Economics

"A crackerjack student,
As gay as a jay,
With a charming manner,
Coupled with a winning way."

The most cheerful, care-free soul, with a continuous smile and irresistible disposition, was Ruth. She had a way of talking that simply captivated her listeners. Can you blame him for falling?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Entry Clerk, Receiving Clerk, Monitor, Representative, Volunteer, Ring Committee, Senior Reception, Archive Committee, Junior Dramatic Club.

HOBBY: Riding a bicycle.

FUTURE: In a rumble seat.

IDA MAIDMAN

1303 North 15th Street — Commercial

"Simple faith, plain humility, a genuine sincerity, and moral courage constitute a great soul."

Ida has faithfully and completely fulfilled the promise which the class recognized in her serious, grave eyes when they wisely chose her for their President. She gave us of her best, and that was good, indeed.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senior Class President, Senator, Representative, Volunteer, Monitor, Ring Committee Chairman, Bank Officer, President and Vice-President Plant Lovers' Club, Athletic Club, Students' Aid, First Aid Club.

HOBBY: Laughing at Pauline.

FUTURE: First Lady of the Land.

"Skitz"

"Syd"

SOPHIE MANSTEIN

3035 West Berks Street — Commercial

"S ophie may be short and small;
O h, how looks deceive us!
P laying 'round her, you will find,
H idden 'neath her meekness,
I dealistic brilliancy
E qualed by her neatness."

Sophie was small, yet smart. When she smiled, she seemed to be enjoyably happy, and I guess she had good reason to be. If she makes out as well in the world as she did at school, Sophie's life will be a grand success.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, First Aid Club, Glee Club, Spanish Club, Students' Aid Club, Social Workers' Club, Representative, Archive Committee, Monitor, Volunteer, Receiving Teller, Entry Clerk.

HOBBY: Traveling.

FUTURE: Head bookkeeper.

BERTHA MARCUS

1138 North 2nd Street — Commercial

"You sinners, drop everything,
Join with Bertha and sing,
Sing, you sinners."

No siree! You couldn't beat Bertha when it came to jazz. When she tickled the keys, they stood tickled, so that they kept goin' long after her fingers left the piano.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Captain, Volunteer, Captain Monitor, German Club, Social Workers, Chemistry Club, Swimming Club.

HOBBY: Jazz.

FUTURE: Jazz queen.

"Bert"

"Gus" "Caesar"

GUSSIE MARGOLIS

1605 North 33rd Street — Home Economics

"While some folks laugh,
And others smile,
Gussie giggles all the while."

Gussie was always trying to cheer others in the sunny reflection of her own pleasant nature. Her joy was contagious, and spread to us all. "The voice with the smile wins," you know.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Student Aid Scout, Book Lovers' Club, Chairman Library Club, Theatre Club, Social Workers' Club.

HOBBY: Skating.

FUTURE: Tennis champion.

PAULINE MARGOLIS

3146 West Euclid Avenue — Commercial

"Her work is conscientious,
She never tries to fake;
When it comes to being funny,
Pauline takes the cake."

If you ever wish to start a hurricane, mention to Paul, "From the neck to the ankles," and you'll get it! Things surely did brighten when Paul was around. Ask the girls who lunched with her.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Captain Monitor, Volunteer, Vice-President Plant Lovers' Club, Bank Clerk, Student Aid Club, Le Circle Francais, Glee Club, Senior Reception, Costume Committee, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Sketching.

FUTURE: Artist's model.

"Paul"

"Bell"

BELLA MARION MAROVITZ

715 North 8th Street — Home Economics

"Seest thou a man diligent in his work?
He shall stand before kings."

Bella was busier than the proverbial bee, for her moments of idleness were rare, indeed. She did not permit one interest to exclude all others, however, and participated in many activities.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Bank Officer, Volunteer, Monitor, Late Monitor, Junior French Club, Plant Lovers' Club, Contemporary Club.

HOBBY: Reading.

FUTURE: To be or not to be.

LAURA B. MATHIS

844 North 12th Street — Home Economics

"Quiet, thoughtful and serene,
Wouldn't disturb a fly;
Reminds us of a queen
Calmly passing by."

Laura was a charming girl. She was sedate, calm and a scrupulous worker. Because she was friendly with everyone, the result was she had many friends.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Bank Clerk, Doll Committee, Volunteer, Cap and Gown Committee.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Dressmaker.

"Snooky"

"Bee"

BEATRICE M. MILLER

606 South American Street — Commercial

"Just being happy
Is a good thing to do;
Looking on the bright side
Instead of the blue."

Besides having a wonderful disposition, Beatrice was a great pal. She was one of our many speed typists, and we feel our present champion had better look to her laurels, for our sweet girl graduate will present a stiff fight.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Social Workers' Club, Students' Aid, Swimming Club, Volunteer, Hockey Club, Senior Reception, Hiking Club, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Playing bridge.

FUTURE: Bridge champion.

ESTHER MILLER

6041 North Mervine Street — Vocational Art Course

"Swift of tongue,
Never a bore,
Full of wit,
Need one ask more?"

Esther was a real live wire, and never yielded to the blues for long. She managed, with the aid of clever witticisms, to gracefully extricate herself from any threatened embarrassment and always emerged triumphant.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, French Club, Athletic Club, Chemistry Club, Students' Aid, Volunteer, Representative, Monitor, Archive Committee, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Paging Doris Lederman.

FUTURE: Landing him.

"Es"

"Deanie"

EUDINE F. ODELL

5621 North Warnock Street — Commercial

"As a sport—she's okay,
As a joker—there's nothing to say,
As a sailor—as good as the rest,
As a friend—one of the best."

Eudine was a famous celebrity for her joking and winning personality. She always managed somehow to be the "life of the party." So, with her looks, personality, and cleverness, she'll get there!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Student Aid Club, Representative, Monitor, Dancing Club, President French Club, Volunteer, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Tap dancing.

FUTURE: Sailing (?).

IDA OSNOFSKY

2015 West Columbia Avenue — Commercial

"Dramatic talent she possessed,
But from vanity she refrained;
How she can stir your emotions!
Yet modest and retiring she remained."

Ida was one of our rising young actresses. Off the stage, however, acting was completely forgotten in her daily contacts with us, and simplicity and sincerity were the keynotes of her make-up.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Athletic Club, Plant Lovers' Club, Junior and Senior Dramatic Clubs, Librarian, Entry Clerk, Receiving Teller, Monitor, Volunteer, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Making friends.

FUTURE: Solving the problem of X.

"I"

"Pet"

BERNICE PAYNE

206 Cabot Street — Art and Home Economics

"Come and trip it as you go,
On a light, fantastic toe."

Bernice can trip it, too, for she has quite a reputation in dancing circles. In fact, she teaches dancing to aspiring future stage stars. Her success with our gym dances always did puzzle us.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Special, Student Aid Scout, Captain Monitor, Late Monitor, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Drawing.

FUTURE: Night club hostess.

ANNABELLE PINSKY

4743 North 9th Street — Commercial

"Tall and blonde, with dimpled cheeks,
As sculpturesque as the ancient Greeks."

This miss of striking appearance came to us from the West, and her enunciation is still very "Western." We all loved to hear Annabelle speak.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Students' Aid Club, Entry Clerk, Receiving Teller, Spanish Club President, Archive Committee, Late Monitor, Senior Dramatic Club.

HOBBY: Translating Spanish.

FUTURE: Spanish stenographer.

"Billie"

"France"

FRANCES POLANSKY

716 North 7th Street — Commercial

"She looked on trouble and despair
As calm as if they were not there."

Frances, being of diminutive stature, closely adhered to the old maxim that "little girls should be seen and not heard." She quietly worked behind the scenes, asking no recognition. Her efforts went by unsung, but not unrewarded.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Mathematics Club, Hikers' Club, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Sports.

FUTURE: Keeping at it.

BERTHA POMERANTZ

2960 Richmond Street — Academic

"Arma virumque cano,
Do, re, mi, fa, sol,
In music and in Latin
Did Pommy greatly excel."

Yes, Bert was a fine one to have around when Virgil was the subject, and if you didn't know your Theory—Bert helped there, too.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Volunteer, Latin Club, Dramatic Club, Chemistry Club, Social Workers' Club, Contemporary Club, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Looking for information.

FUTURE: Getting it.

"Pommy"

"Flo"

FLORENCE RICKEL

3223 Page Street — Commercial

"Flo's eloquent eyes,
And lovely smile,
Makes life for her friends
All worth while."

Florence was an active and lively girl. She flitted around from one friend to another (and she certainly had plenty) like a butterfly. In spite of it all, she certainly had a brain. Good luck, Flo!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers' Club, Volunteer, Monitor.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Marry a matinee idol.

MARY ROSENBAUM

North Randolph Street — Home Economics

"So unassuming and eager to please,
To all our hearts she has found the keys."

Mary is a very pleasant person. Because of her helpfulness and good nature she was always a welcome addition to any group. She always had a cheery word and a quick smile for everyone. Mary's admirable traits have won for her countless friends.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid, Social Workers' Club, Dancing Club, Sketch Club, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Late Monitor, Glee Club.

HOBBY: Eating.

FUTURE: Her own cook.

"Mare"

"Bess"

BESSIE ROSENSTEIN

559 North Randolph Street — Commercial

"She can smile when she can't say a word,
She can smile when she cannot be heard,
She can smile if it is cloudy or fair,
Any time, any place, anywhere."

Bessie wore a perennial grin that never failed to greet us at the beginning of the day, and that was the last thing we saw at the close of school. Don't lose that smile, Bessie—you'll need it!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Social Worker, Students' Aid Club, Glee Club, Bank Receiver, Entry Clerk.

HOBBY: Drawing pictures.

FUTURE: Out in the wide open spaces.

SYLVIA ROSENTHAL

2310 South Darien Street — Commercial

"A teaspoon of sympathy,
A cupful of smiles,
A tablespoon of cheerfulness,
And friendliness in piles."

To Sylvia the little things count in life. If you want any help or advice, Sylvia's always there to offer her services. Her neat appearance is one of her most desirable possessions. Sylvia wants to spend her future in a Dentist's office. With all her attributes how can she help but make good?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Book Lovers' Club, German Club, Volunteer, Monitor, Students' Aid, Advertising Committee.

HOBBY: Looking for blue eyes.

FUTURE: Dental Hygienist.

"Syl"

"Gus"

GUSSIE ROTHMAN

3211 Fontain Street — Commercial

"Why are you hurrying, my pretty maid?"
"Oh, I'm so busy, kind sir," she said.
"And what are you doing, my pretty maid?"
"Playing tennis, playing tennis, kind sir," she said.

Gussie is a real tennis hound, and swings a dangerous racquet. Her speed on the tennis court should make Helen Wills look to her laurels.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senior Reception, Volunteer, Monitor, Bank Teller, Student' Aid, Social Workers, Hikers' Club, Basketball, Athletic Club.

HOBBY: Tennis.

FUTURE: Model.

EMILY SCHROEDER

2237 Albans Street — Commercial

"Nor bold, nor shy,
Nor short, nor tall,
But a very nice mixture
Of them all."

We must confess, we never penetrated Emily's exterior. Shall we say it was because she wasn't with us all the time, as she came to us from Girls' High School? However, all of us knew her as a pretty, unassuming, well-beloved young lass. As for her voice, it was always charming—ever low and sweet.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Kraft Club, Monitor.

HOBBY: Swimming.

FUTURE: Private Secretary to Vice-President.

"Em"

"Ann"

ANNA M. SEMENACK

769 North Croskey Street — Art Course

"Chubby Anna appear mischievous,
We'll all agree to that.
Hoping that she doesn't deceive us,
And is serious in fact."

Anna was always full of fun. One would probably guess that, at the first glance of her. She was short and rounded and just seemed to be fit for laughter. She really puts one in mind of the expression, "Jolly little elf."

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Art Editor Onas, Monitor, Swimming Club, Leaders' Club, Social Worker, Bank Officer.

HOBBY: Driving.

FUTURE: Commercial Artist.

FLORENCE SHAMBERG

2010 North 32nd Street — Academic

"Florence, when she's 'everyday,'
Is funny as you'd want her,
But when the 'make-up's' on, good grief!
Nothing then will daunt her."

Florence's personality was a thing to be envied. Her cheerfulness spread sunshine wherever she was. She was always willing to help, and in any group was invariably the center of attraction. We wish the best of luck, always.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Special, Monitor, Late Monitor, Volunteer, Athletic Club, Students' Aid Club, Plant Lovers' Club, Chemistry Club, Senior Dramatic Club.

HOBBY: Tennis.

FUTURE: Lillian Roth's rival.

"Floss"

"Skeets"

ALICE M. SHAROZIAN

845 North Taylor Street — Commercial

"A voice like a nightingale,
A brain like an Edison,
Has our Alice so sweet;
With style that can't be beat."

Can we ever forget Alice's singing in the Senior Reception? If Alice ever goes to Spain, the senoritas will have to look well to their laurels. As to Stenog., I wonder what you would have done, Alice, if you had received less than ninety in a transcription?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senior Reception, Bank Officer.

HOBBY: Singing.

FUTURE: Voice Cultivator.

EDITH SHENKMAN

1501 North 8th Street — Commercial

"Senator, Judge and friend
To all a helping hand did lend.
Always there to right all wrongs,
Always ready to write us songs."

There's so many nice things to say about Shenky that one hardly knows where to begin. Can we ever forget how her face lit up when she spoke and that when she smiled the sun seemed to spread over her face. Edith was responsible for those songs in our Volunteer term and those for Toy Day, and if she continues to write such good ones she surely will make a success.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Associate Judge, Senator, Representative, Volunteer, Captain Monitor, Bank Officer, Students' Aid Scout, Athletic Club, Senior French Club, Book Lovers' Council, Costume Committee, Senior Reception, Contemporary Club, Archive Committee.

HOBBY: Razzing Sylvia Wynne.

FUTURE: Song Writer.

"Shenky"

MARY SHETZLINE

C. F.

210 S. Church St., Moorestown, N. J. — Commercial

"Where the stream runneth smoothest,
The water is deepest."

Mary, though one of the quietest girls in our class, was very well known by all, because of her personality. Many of the girls were quite envious of her pretty curls, as well as her pretty clothes.

ACTIVITIES: S. A. Representative, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Tending to personal self.

FUTURE: Tending to someone else's self.

ELSIE EMILY SIRATZ

2008 Ogden Street — Vocational Art

"Dainty, charming, smiling, chic,
For all art in life she has a yen;
Just like the clever artist
Who guides the drawing pen."

We've always found Elsie a real artist. She has the talent—she has the originality—the technique—the inspiration—she has everything but the temperament. If beauty is the excuse for constant staring, the girls that are always doing so to Elsie, sure have a perfect alibi for doing so.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Art Editor Onas, Representative, President of Art Club, Art Lover, Students' Aid Scout, Bank Officer.

HOBBY: Sketching "Ginger" snaps.

FUTURE: Commercial Artist.

"Els"

"Skippy"

ETHEL L. SKIPPER

2000 West Girard Avenue — Home Economics

"She looks as well as she draws,
And her sketches are simply top-tipper.
Monet better look to his laurels.
Look out, World—here comes our Skipper."

Have you ever seen Ethel staggering home carrying a load of Girl Grads? That's the penalty of talent. Have you ever picked up an Onas minus a delightful sketch by the same clever girl? The reward (?) of genius.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Swimming Club, Art Club, Senior Reception, Bank Officer, Basketball Club, Archive Committee, Onas Staff.

HOBBY: "Teddy" Bear.

FUTURE: With "Teddy" Bear.

JULIA SMARKOLA

455 Fairmount Avenue — Home Economics

"Julia is quiet as a cat,
But she can speak, for a' that and a' that.
And when she does say this or that,
It's worth something, you can bet your hat."

Julia's natural retiring attitude kept her from close association with most of the girls. But those who knew her readily admit that she was a regular "feller." One thing she had, and that was a mind of her own. If you were ever in history with her you know, for even Mr. Cheney couldn't convince her.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Vice-President of Junior Dramatic Club, President Senior Dramatic Club, Late Monitor, Volunteer, Glee Club, Art Club.

HOBBY: Imitating Galli Curci.

FUTURE: Lecturer on the dress of different countries.

"Julie"

"Mar"

MARION SMITH

777 South Seventh Street — Commercial

"A wise man never boasts,
He walks in the path of the bright.
Rays of his knowledge gleam forth
In quiet, unassuming manner."

Brilliance travels hand-in-hand with modesty. Marion abounded in these qualities with full measure. May she never stray from these virtues, but build on them to reach the peak of her goal.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Student Aid Scout, Volunteer, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Collecting movie stars' pictures.

FUTURE: With a movie star.

FRIEDA SPIEGEL

2244 Fairmount Avenue — Commercial

"Of Frieda we can always say
Without being wrong,
Her generosity is as great
As the day is long."

Frieda was a girl who did not dilly-dally with her work. She was industrious, and quiet. She accomplished as much, if not more, than some who fussed and fumed and became excited over nothing at all. We do hope that she will keep on that way.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Late Monitor, Social Workers' Club, Students' Aid Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Posing for Pepsodent.

"Fre"

"Lyd"

LYDIA SPIZERI

1211 Wharton Street — Academic

"Judging from Lydia's hobby,
An affectionate miss is she;
Her 'crushes' change with the weather,
Now who's the lucky 'he'?"

Lydia was ever quiet, demure, and easy-going. Nothing excited or ruffled her smooth temperament, no matter whether it was an exam or a date with her latest "crush."

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Mathematics Club, Social Workers' Club, Book Lovers' Club, Chemistry Club.

HOBBY: Having crushes on people.

FUTURE: Her latest "Crush."

FLORENCE STEIN

325 Spruce Street — Commercial

"A merry laugh,
A ready smile,
Always happy,
That's Florence's style."

When you see Florence you simply have to believe in the old adage: "Good things come in small packages." There isn't much of Florence, but she certainly manages to accomplish a vast amount of work.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Plant Lovers' Club, Special, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Students' Aid Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Bottled sunshine.

"Shorty"

"Becky"

REBECCA S. STERN

2004 North Marston Street — Commercial

"Becky is dubbed as a good sport,
She is bright, clever, and sweet,
And one look at her report
Shows you she is some athlete."

Rebecca was bestowed with numerous fine gifts. She was charming, and an excellent dancer. (Sing You Sinners, bum, bum.) And Becky in athletics was a wow!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Social Workers' Club, Leaders' Club.

HOBBY: Swimming.

FUTURE: Everybody's pal.

BARBARA STOOPS

605 North 10th Street — Commercial

"Barbara is a witty girl.
Our mirth shall ne'er subside
When in later years we think
Of the fun from her we derived."

Everyone liked Barbara. Throughout the four years of high school life, she acquired many friends because of her sunny nature. Babs was always fond of Physiology. We wonder why?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Representative, Monitor, Volunteer, Receiving Clerk, Entry Clerk, Book Lovers' Club.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: With her man.

"Dot"

DOROTHY STREEPER

1208 Stiles Street — Commercial

"Trim and slender,
Voice so tender,
Makes us wonder,
Will Dot surrender?"

Although Dorothy likes a man's game, she's a delightful person through and through. Big, blue, sparkling eyes, no doubt inspired by athletics, suggest her vim and vigor. And, of course we'll always remember Dot's soft lubbing voice, which would soothe so much that the most she spoke was always too little.

HOBBY: Sports.

FUTURE: In the Olympics.

INEZ SUTTON

776 South 15th Street — Art and Home Economics

"Someone is chattering,
Who can it be?
It's probably Inez,
Describing last night's spree."

An attractive girl—unanimously agreed upon. She enjoyed talking and many times entertained us with her pleasant chatter.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid, Social Workers' Club, Art Club.

HOBBY: Talking.

FUTURE: Soap-box orator.

"Inez"

"Eve"

EVELYN E. TAYLOR

105 North Sickles Street — Art and Home Economics

"She always has something to say,
But she says that in a pleasant way."

Were you one of Evelyn's favorites? Well, of course, you wouldn't know, for she treated everyone the same. She treated others as she liked to be treated by them. She took Art and Home Economics course and we're sure she'll be successful in her career.

ACTIVITIES: Student's Association, Monitor.

HOBBY: Talking.

FUTURE: Petite Miss Model.

ELLA THOMAS

2219 Meredith Street — Art and Home Economics

"A pleasant look, a cheery smile,
This is Ella all the while."

You may not have seen Ella very often, because she has just returned to school. She seems to have gained by leaving and returning. We wish you luck, Ella.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Social Workers, Book Lovers.

HOBBY: Playing the piano.

FUTURE: Giving concerts.

H ere's to hoping she'll have luck
A ll through her coming future.

"Aye, Aye, Sir." Bertha always seemed to be laughing and happy. If the voyage she makes through life will be as satisfactory as her voyage in the Senior Reception, Bertha will keep on being happy.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Students' Aid Club, Library Club, Art Lovers' Club, Senior Reception, Volunteer, Special, Late Monitor.

HOBBY: Dancing.

FUTURE: Happy-go-lucky kid.

FRANCES M. USINSKAS

129 Manton Street — Retail Selling

"She is loving, true and kind,
She really cannot be defined."

Frances was one of those quiet, attractive, and industrious Pennites. She always said considerably less than she knew. Because she was a Retail Selling girl we hardly got to know her. We'll wager that we'll hear of her some day as the superintendent of a department store. Here's luck, Frances!

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Senior Reception, Volunteer.

HOBBY: Hiking.

FUTURE: Globe trotter.

HELEN VINCENTI

910 Christian Street — Commercial

"Small and petite,
Tiny and neat,
That's our Helen,
Quiet and sweet."

Although she was very quiet most of the time, she was always willing to do her bit to help along. Helen's popularity was universal, and grew with the passing of each term.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Bank Officer, Advertising Committee.

HOBBY: Sewing.

FUTURE: Bookkeeping, and how!

"Mama Wallock"

MILDRED VILENSKY

3123 Morse Street — Commercial

"We don't know whether it's it or that,
Her new dress or that pretty hat.
But Mildred must have some cute tricks
Which make the male sex fall like bricks."

And it's true. But we think maybe it's her giggle. If you hear it you'll know just how she is, easily pleased, pleasant, and a great girl to have around. Remember Washington?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Monitor, Bank Officer, Student Aid Scout, Book Lovers' Club, Plant Lovers' Club, Athletic Club, Hockey Club, Swimming Club, Senior Reception, Volunteer, Hiking Club, Theater Club, French Club, Students' Aid.

HOBBY: Dates with Nuts.

FUTURE: Bathing Suit Model.

HANNAH WALLOCK

606 Spruce Street — Commercial

"She is known by what she does,
And what she does is good."

Hannah was a veritable bundle of electrified energy. Ever on her toes, she served her class admirably, and our hats are off to her. Her exuberant personality won us all, and she never lacked friends. To say Washington would be saying Hannah, for to most of us the two words are synonomous. More, mere mortals cannot say than, "To know her is to love her."

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Vice-President of Senior Class, Representative, Captain Monitor, Volunteer, Receiving Clerk, Original Diggers' Club, Doll Committee, Students' Aid Club, President and Secretary of Plant Lovers, Chairman Archive Committee, French Club, Santa Claus.

HOBBY: Big things.

FUTURE: Little things?

HAZEL WARD

1437 North Fawn Street — Commercial

"A girl who is quiet
A studious lass,
She is well liked
By all in her class."

Hazel was one of the quiet girls, who although they didn't make much noise, sure made themselves felt by their grace and charm. Good luck, Hazel.

REBA WASSERMAN

4221 Parrish Street — Commercial

"Hidden in our midst is one
Who the name of genius has won;
Some future day shall see her name
Listed high in the annals of fame."

Reba, our Class Poet, was gifted with a rare talent. She could transform the dullest, most prosaic thought into a glorious poem that simply oozed genius. She was always the hard, unassuming worker who seemed to radiate inspiration and energy. "Work, and it shall be given thee."

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Secretary of Senior Class, Class Poet, Archive Committee, Chairman of Typewriting Committee, Onas Poetry Editor, Onas Staff, Cheshire Cheese Club, Contemporary Club, Secretary of Plant Lovers' Club, Glee Club, Volunteer, Book Lovers' Council, Spanish Club, Athletic Club, Entry Clerk, Students' Aid.

ROSE WEINER

2154 Natrona Street — Commercial

"That mysterious gift of charm
Sought by many, possessed by few,
'Personality' we call it;
Rose, it's certainly found in you."

It sure will take a long time to forget Rose, for she was what the song writers call, "Lovable and Sweet." Rose was always there with a quip and a smile so that she was loved by all her friends and teachers.

SHIRLEY WEINSTEIN

835 North 6th Street — Retail Selling

"Let the world slide, let the world go
A fig for care; a fig for woe."

Shirley was a fine sport, despite the fact that we hardly heard from her in class. However, those who came in contact with her could readily say that she led a very happy existence, never troubled, never worried, but always ready for a spree. Her studies were devoted to Retail Selling. She's bound to make good!

HELEN WIDMAN

3435 G Street — Commercial

"Full of a nature
Calm and serene;
Thoughtful for others
In any extreme."

Everyone marveled at the unruffled manner in which Helen sailed through the four hectic years of high school. Her easy-going nature was the envy of us all.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Volunteer, Representative, German Club, Typing Committee, Bank Clerk, First Aid.

HOBBY: Baseball and Swimming.

FUTURE: Beating Gertrude Ederles' records.

THELMA WILLS

1831 Poplar Street — Academic-Music

"Thelma doesn't mind the weather,
Sunshine, snow or rain,
Through storms, and blows and sleet and hail,
She's always just the same."

In all this great big world Thelma has chosen a small corner to herself and stays there. She is fond of music and you can usually find her with a music book of some sort. A girl with such capabilities can hardly be anything but successful.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Choral Club.

HOBBY: Music.

ESTHER ZAMOCHNICK

717 North 5th Street — Academic Normal

"Grace in a large measure,
Makes Esther a treasure;
With charmed and eager faces
We watched her Egyptian graces."

Esther certainly deserves some acknowledgment for her fine work as a librarian, artist and dancer. Did you ever notice the beautiful posters in the library? Well, most of them were the work of Esther.

SARAH ZAMOCHNICK

717 North 5th Street — Commercial

"Always elusive, yet cheerful,
Always calm and cool,
Always glad to be a help,
A credit to our school."

Besides being interested in the scholastic side of life, Sarah stood out in dancing. We need not enlarge upon her ability as a dancer, but feel sure she'll some day rival Anna Pavlowa.

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Art Lovers' Club, Students' Aid Club, President of Library Club, Late Monitor, Senior Reception.

HOBBY: Aesthetic Dancing.

FUTURE: Dancing instructor.

SOPHIE ZATUCHNI

1627 North 7th Street — Retail Selling

"Sweet, gurgling tunes,
Like opalescent colors,
Float into space
Far above us."

Sophie attempted, for a while, to conceal her ability for singing from us—but genius will out. She didn't quite succeed in "hiding her light under a bushel."

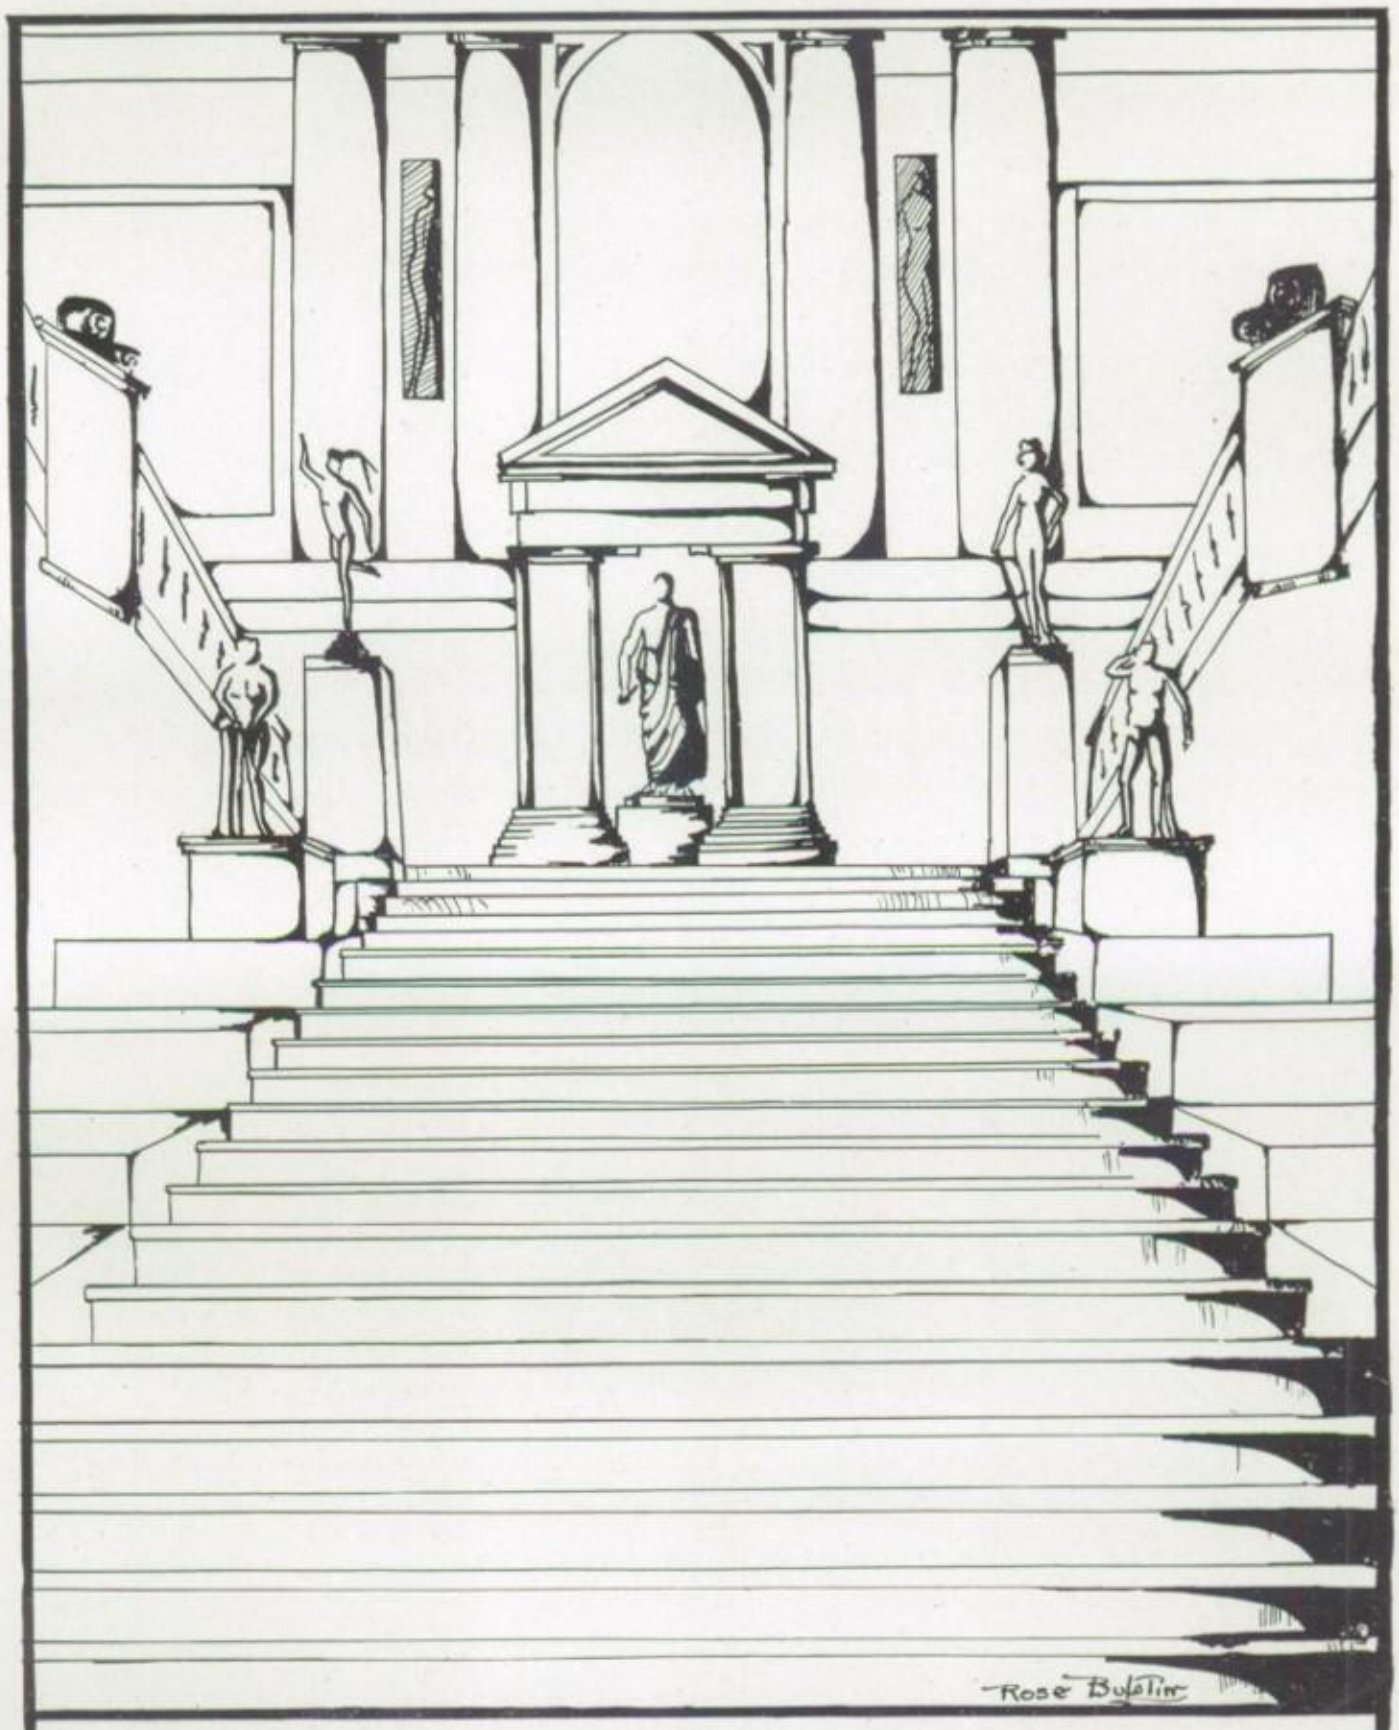
"Twinkling toes and flying feet,
Sarah takes us, via dance,
With each rythmic, crashing beat,
To Russia, land of old romance."

Dancing was to Sarah what tin is to a Ford—her body and soul. She gloried in it. Who does not remember with a thrill her dancing at our own Senior Reception?

ACTIVITIES: Students' Association, Glee Club, Bank Officer, Monitor, First Aid Club, Senior Reception, Advertising Committee, Athletic Club.

HOBBY: Dancing and Sports.

FUTURE: A Highlight in the dancing community.



CORCORAN ART GALLERY

WASHINGTON TRIP

The Washington Trip

REMINISCENCES fill our mind—the wheels of time roll back. A vague, dim picture dawns upon the memory, and, as the impression slowly becomes clearer and clearer, we live again our high-school days. The image crystallizes; the events of our Senior year stand out; the Washington trip predominates.

Scenes, rapidly shifting before our eyes, linger for a moment on one spot—the waiting-room at Broad Street Station, where we are impatiently awaiting the train which is to bear us to the beautiful Capital of our nation. The voices of excited girls ring in our ears, "Oh, what are you going to wear?—"My pajamas are pink!" —"I've the prettiest shoes!"—"Pinch me, will you? I can't believe it's true!"—and so on, all during the ride to the seat of our government.

At last, Washington, the Utopia of every schoolgirl's dreams, looms large upon the horizon. We stroll, awed, through the spacious Union Station, and make our way to the Capitol. As we walk down the wide, clean streets, beautifully lined with trees, we are tempted to let our eyes linger over the many lovely landmarks, but time is precious, and we must hurry on. Through the foresight of our sponsors and guides, our trip is crammed with delightful visits.

Our first view of the imposing Mayflower Hotel, where we were to spend two of the happiest, most carefree days of our lives, will never be quite erased from our memories, dim as it may grow with the passing of the years. The cozy rooms—the dainty suites, in which we gloried for so short a time, will occupy a hallowed niche in our hearts.

Our first visit is to the Arlington National Cemetery. We feel like tiny ants beside the vastness of the New Ampitheatre. Reverently, we pay our silent tributes at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and many of us feel the tears spring to our eyes as our genial guide explains the story of this immortal hero.

Mount Vernon is our next stop. We make the trip up the Potomac by boat, and are reluctant to tear our eyes away from the beautiful scenery in the distance for even a few moments' rest in all the excitement. The magnificent gardens which greet our eyes upon our arrival surpass all our mental pictures.

In the evening, after dinner, we are taken by buses to the Congressional Library —the largest, most beautiful building of its kind in the world. As we stand and simply stare, wide-eyed, at the exquisite Mosaic work on the walls and ceilings, interwoven with beautiful sayings, exclamations of astonishment and wonder escape our lips. The collection of books — shelves upon shelves — stagger us, for the moment.

Once more we find ourselves at the hotel. This time we dress for the long-awaited dance. And oh, the stunning frocks! Long, frilly chiffons, soft crepes, shimmering satins, even clinging velvets are seen adorning and transforming our girls. Among the dancers can be seen not only students, but members of our faculty. The lone male is much in demand, and those who disentangle him from feminine clutches long enough for a dance find him up-to-the-minute in popular steps.

In between dances we sip at the delicious punch and nibble the cakes. But midnight comes all too soon, and we reluctantly wend our way to our beds. Sleep, however, will not come. Our minds are filled with the events of the day. Turning on the lights, we creep out of bed, and indulge in a forbidden midnight feast.

We are awakened early and enter with vim and vigor into the second day of our trip. We spend the morning seeing some of the sights of the city, among which are the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the Freer Art Gallery, and the Washington Monument. The guides are voluble, and from them we learn many interesting and instructive things about the famous city.

In the afternoon we see the Lincoln Memorial. We gaze with amazement at its beauty and immensity. Then comes the most beautiful building of all, we agree, the Pan-American Building, where a humorous guide explains it to us, accompanied by the endless chatter of a beautiful parrot. We view the exhibits in the Corcoran Art Gallery, and pay a visit, too, at the Red Cross Building.

And then—our last dinner. The meal is delicious, and in between bites we stop to cheer. And how we cheer! Everybody and everything! Later the waiters pass mysterious packages among us, which proved to be adorable souvenirs—ash trays—that the "B. F." can use, when he comes a-calling.

Reluctantly we pack our baggage and bid a sad farewell to Washington and all that we have been associated with for two glorious days.

Then, again, we are in Broad Street Station. The Washington trip is a thing of the past. Happy and tired, we stumble into the arms of our waiting friends and are borne home, chattering continually all the way about the delights of the journey.

The picture is fading now, and others are taking its place. Graduation—graduation from that dear school upon which our thoughts dwell—graduation from those events which will forever remain fixed in our minds.

Senior Reception

"Gay Captives"

"COME on girls, get to work. Remember we have only a few more weeks left to practice in, and we have to make this the best reception ever given. Now settle down. Everyone off the platform but the Indians. All set? Start the Indian music, Amelia. Come on girls, do your best."

Six girls crept toward the edge of the platform to the tune of low, weird music. Stealthily they made their way back from the footlights and again turned, to face an imaginary audience. Then the music changed and the chieftain appeared, only to burst forth into—"Do you know who I am, with this horn in my hand? I'm the medicine man for your blues. I make each trouble and care—" "Wait a minute, you'll have to make that a little louder, please. Start all over again," came a voice from the rear of the auditorium. The song was no sooner repeated and the dance carried on to completion, than the stage filled up and confusion again reigned.

"Girls, brush up on those steps. Remember the next rehearsal is Thursday. Listen, quiet down. I'm not talking for my own benefit. Girls, you've got to get to work. Now let's see. Where's Lillian? Come on, I want you and Sophie to practice your number. Everybody off the stage." From the piano came the strains of "If You Were the Only Girl in the World."

Rehearsals went on and on. Gestures, songs and dances were repeated again and again. Lillian "confessed" at least three times during each rehearsal and Mildred did not in the least slight "Any Time's the Time to Fall in Love." Ruth was kept busy taking measurements for costumes, while the jester clowned to her fullest capacity. Time brought on the last rehearsal.

"Girls, not all the costumes have arrived yet but we do have the Egyptian costumes. Esther and Sarah can put them on and the rest of you will have to rehearse as you are."

"Ida," called Hannah, from the balcony, "the Indian costumes just came in. Annabelle is on her way down with them."

With that the seven Indians rushed for the hall while the rest of the cast looked downhearted.

"Gee, I wish ours would come," whined one of the novelty dancers.

"Well, how about us?" said one of the pirates. The sailors, who had brought their own costumes and were by this time all rigged up in them, were succeeding in attracting the envious glances of their more unfortunate sisters.

Four o'clock arrived and still all the costumes hadn't made their appearance. Costumes or no costumes, the rehearsal had to proceed, but hadn't progressed far before it was again interrupted; this time to have pictures taken for the newspapers.

Mildred was still "Singing a Vagabond Song" and Dorothy was still "done losing her man" when the lights automatically shut off at five o'clock, everything in utter darkness. Screams issued forth from all parts of the room, and conditions were not improved a bit by the fact that a skull reposed on a table standing on the platform.

Perseverance still held its own, however, and the girls continued to practice. But not for long. The idea of staying overnight in the school wasn't particularly inviting. Neither was the thought of going without supper, very welcome. So they called it a day.

"At eight o'clock sharp—start the pace!" commanded the program. Directions were carried out promptly at that time. It was a grand night; clear and warm and just the night for a success.

The auditorium was filled almost to capacity with happy girls and their friends. A noisy atmosphere of gaiety pervaded. Finally the lights were lowered. Voices hushed and the performance began.

When the introduction "Hello, Seniors" was over, the curtain rolled back to permit a view of Captain Kidd with the most ferocious of ferocious looks on his face. He took command immediately, ordering his theatrical prisoners to entertain him, and rather than be doomed to death, they did.

The Indians and Novelty Dancers danced as they had never danced before. The Sailors displayed their familiarity with the Sailor's Hornpipe, while their leader went with them, one better in the presentation of a tap dance. The stage was one mass of gaiety.

Senorita Bolita did her share by singing "Spain" as another Senor and Senorita exhibited their skill at the tango. The poor jester, try though he would, simply couldn't make the audience appreciate his dancing.

Then the whole company became dreamily romantic with the rendering of an Egyptian dance and was once more enlivened while a Russian dancer held sway.

Eliza "done lost her man" again (and incidentally some parts of her wearing apparel) in an effort to evoke a smile from Captain Kidd. Her boy friend, Vashtism, appeared after a while, though, to help her declare "ain't misbehavin' " through the medium of restless feet. Another Southerner then spoke up to tell "Ike" to " 'spress himself."

Finally Captain Kidd was shot by Cupid, and because of the seriousness of his wound the play had to end, leaving the audience in hope that he would be happy with Leila, even though he never could expect a full recovery.

The memory of the play, together with recollections of the dance afterward, still lingers on in many minds, and always will.

FRANCES B. GOLDMAN.

Editorial

THESE four winged years we have been earnestly striving to attain our cherished goals, and to absorb the ideals that our Alma Mater has so generously extended to us. We have steadily endeavored to make our class a worthy product of William Penn, and sincerely hope that we have creditably accounted for ourselves during our all-too-brief stay within these walls. Whether or not we have met with success is not for us to decide—if we have, even in a small measure, we are glad; if we have fallen short of the mark, then at least those ideals were worth striving for.

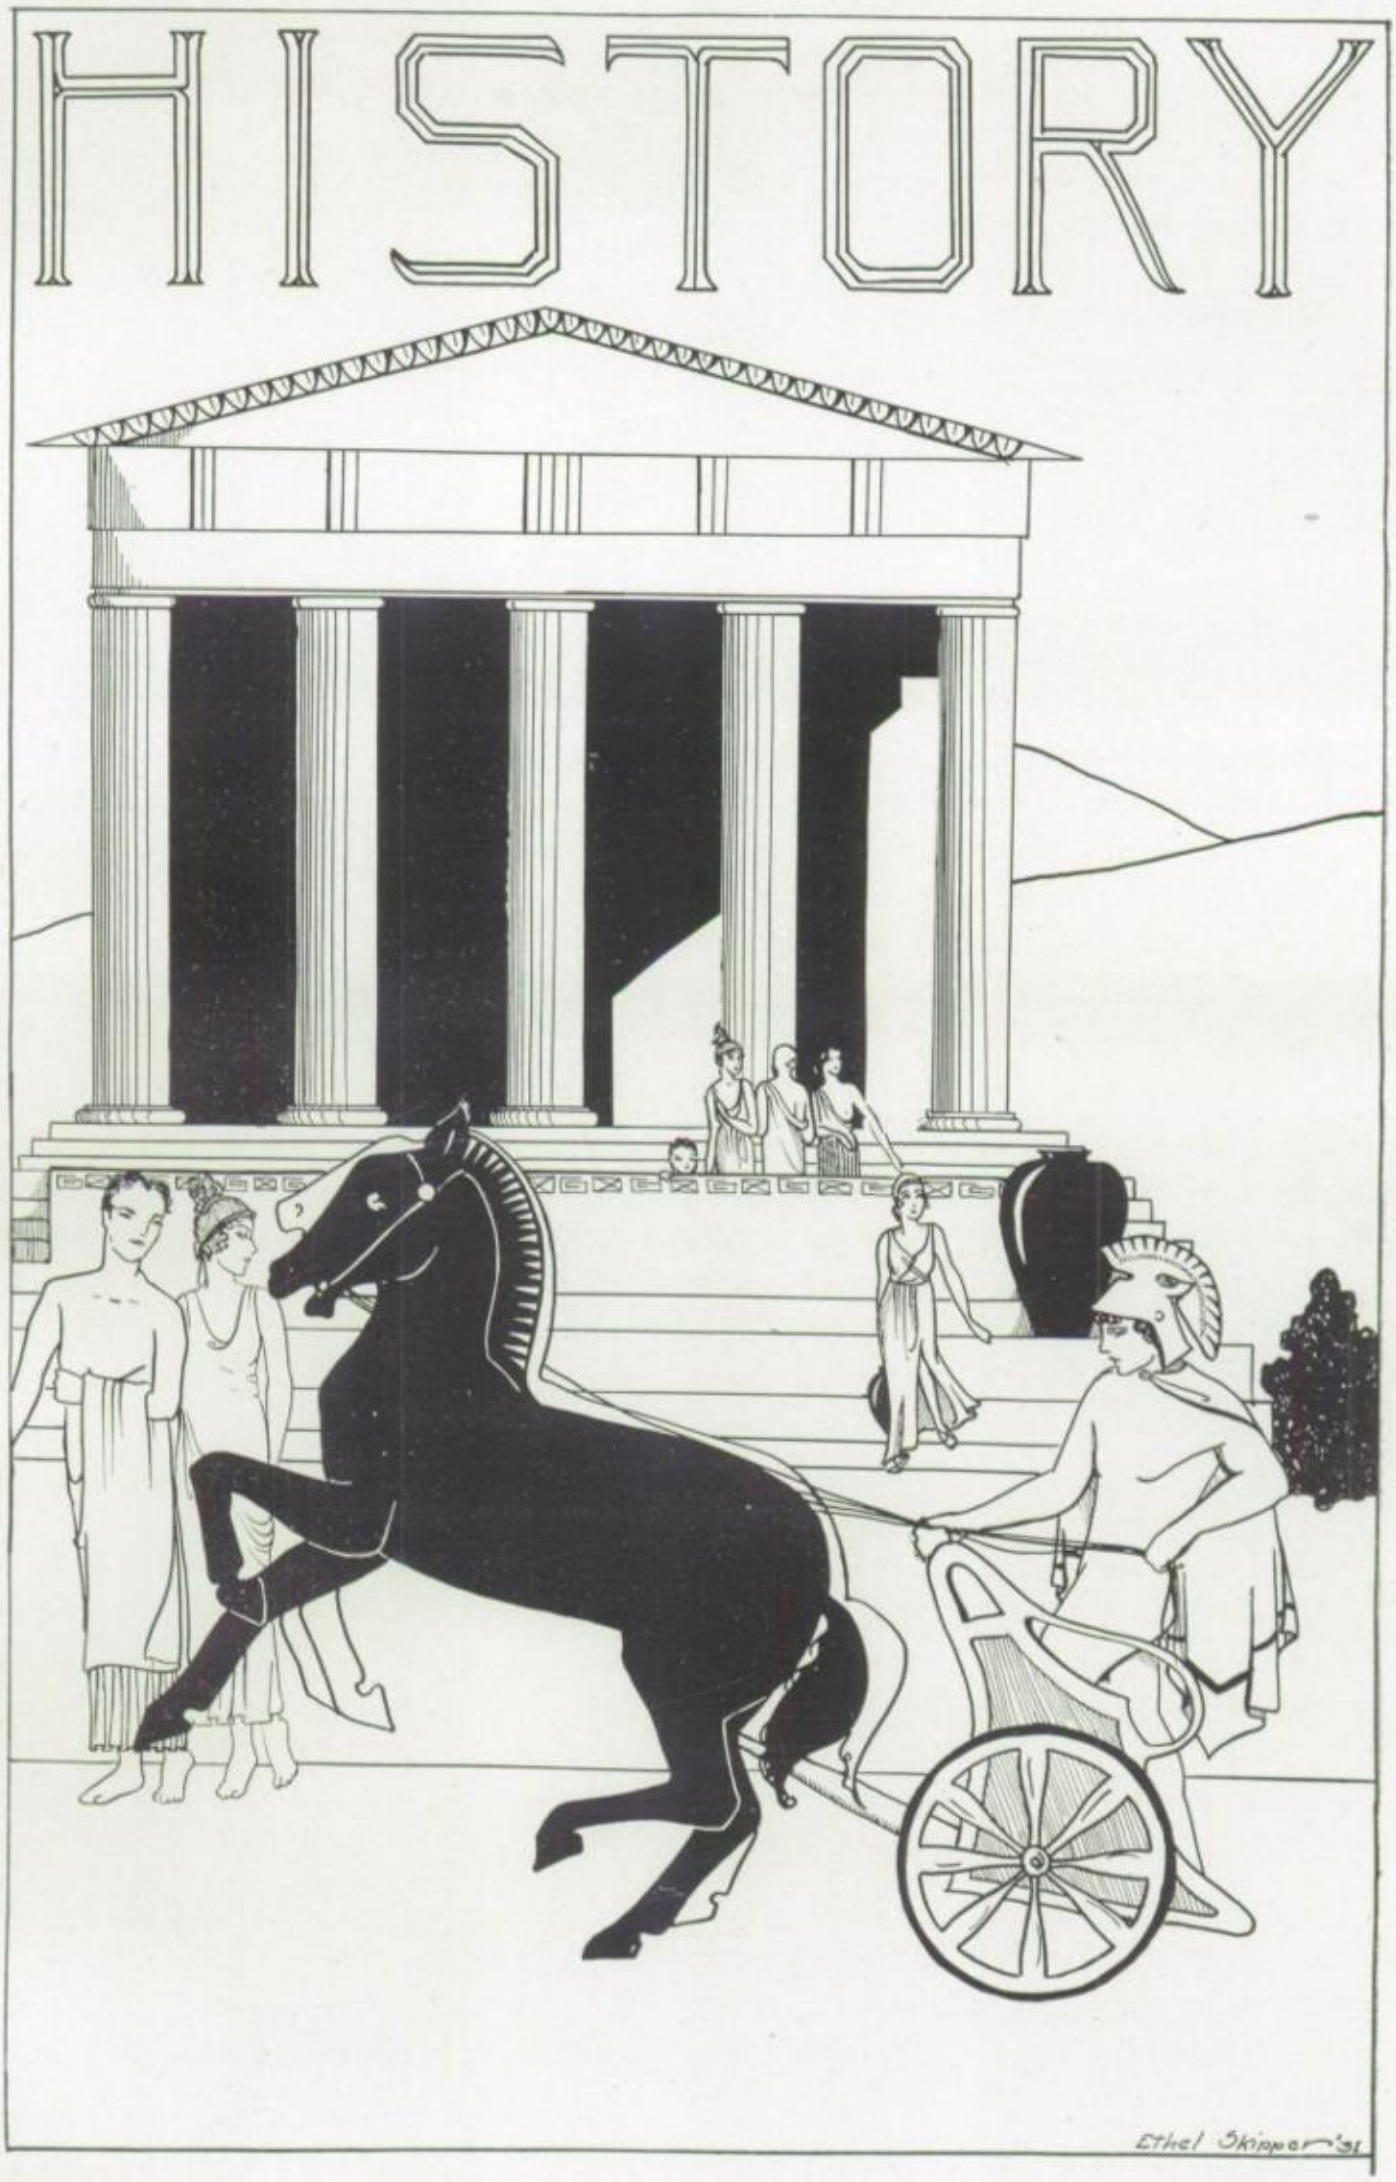
We, the graduates of January, 1931, have grasped with eager, clutching fingers, the bits of wisdom imparted to us by our sympathetic instructors. We are now ready to sally forth from under the motherly wing of our Alma Mater, into the various occupations chosen by us as individuals, where we shall put into practical use the teachings of our younger days.

The past achievements of our girls justify our conclusion that their names will some day be listed high in the annals of fame. But, even if the most promising members of the class remain on the level of obscurity, our days at William Penn will be especially significant and dear to every one of us who have been forging those golden links of friendship, until now we are bound by one common chain of love and amity, so strong that even the weight of endless years cannot rend it asunder.

The Editors of "Impressions" wish to take this inadequate, but only possible means, of extending to the members of the Graduating Class of February, 1931, their most heartfelt wishes for happiness and success in all their endeavors. It is our fervent hope that we may often meet again, and so continue the happy friendships which have sprung up and blossomed in these halls, and that the last school day may not see the end of our pleasant contacts.

THE STAFF.

HISTORY



"Here and There"

First Day at William Penn

The big day has arrived! No longer are we mere grammar school students, but have actually reached the pinnacle—high school, albeit we are only lowly Freshmen. Today, at one o'clock, trembling with anticipation, we approached the majestic gates of our Alma Mater, where we were met by our older sisters, the Seniors, who conducted us on an impromptu tour around the vast, beautiful building.

We saw the study hall, the beautiful library, and the expansive lunchroom, but oh, diary, the thing that impressed me most was the auditorium! Honestly, it's the most spacious auditorium I've ever seen! I'll never forget the sense of luxury pervading our Freshman circle as we eased into seats so unlike school seats, and listened to the welcome Mr. Gray extended to us from the stage.

The Freshman Reception—Our Official Welcome

Today was a red-letter day! Besides missing two periods, and having a perfectly lovely time listening to MacNamara's Band, and receiving lollypops, we experienced the hustle, bustle, and political maneuvering that constitutes an election, and chose our 9A Senator! She is Lillian Leibowitz, and promises a grand finale to our first term's efforts.

Installation

High school, it seems, is one thrill after another. But today we had the biggest thrill of all—Installation! In a solemn, awe-inspiring ceremony, all of our Student Association Officers took their oaths and received their badges of office. All of us, who were witnessing it for the very first time, thought it the most inspiring and stirring ritual we had ever witnessed.

Mothers' Day

At the suggestion of Lillian, and with the co-operation of Miss Wood and our group representatives, we have set aside this day for our mothers, and have officially named it Mothers' Day. Many fond mothers took advantage of this opportunity to visit classrooms and confer with teachers, satisfying their curiosity concerning their daughters' standing.

9B Senator Elected

The term, flying to a speedy conclusion, again brings the day for the election of next term's officers. The excited petitioning, nominating, and, finally, electing, holds the same thrill for me. We greeted with acclaim our new Senator—Marion Dean. And now—for a grand and glorious vacation!

Thoughts on Returning

No more are we scorned Freshies, but proud members of the 9B Class. But with the rise in grade comes another rise, an early one, not so favorably greeted. For now we forego the privilege of lying abed under the late shift, but must attend school from 8.30 until 2 P. M. (Oh, for the life of a Frosh!)

Christmas Entertainment

What an unforgettable day! It certainly was worth the time and effort we expended in making scrap-books, knitting spools, and sewing dollies' wardrobes, to see the kiddies grasp with eager fingers the toys presented them by Santa, impersonated by one of our girls.

Sophomore Retrospection

The first half of our Sophomore year is quickly nearing completion. We cannot help but pride ourselves on the success of our class in our S. A. undertakings. With Ruth Boyer representing us in the Senate we took an active part in our school affairs.

* * * * * * * *

Our second Christmas at William Penn has come and gone. Mildred Cohen was our Senator during the latter half of the term, and under her leadership we did our tiny bit toward the Christmas work, with contributions to help the people in Florida who were stricken and made homeless by the devastating Florida Hurricane.

Enter—Proud Juniors!

Most of us are gravely contemplating our fingers, trying to determine which finger shall be graced by the emblem of our school—our school ring.

Volunteers Organize

The host of "kitchen police" has been organized, under the direction of Ida Maidman and Anna Kleinfelder, our co-working Senators. (Oh, yes, indeed, diary —we have two Senators now.)

Deserving Students Receive Certificates

Assembly exercises today included the presentation of certificates to eleven of our classmates who have been on the honor role every term since their enrollment. I hope that two years hence, when honor roll certificates are given for the maintenance of high records during the four years, the same names will be included in the list of fortunates.

Vacation Reverie

A high Junior! My, but I feel like an old lady!

We have embarked on another, our third, Christmas term. Guided by our new leaders, Mildred Cohn and Gertrude Levitsky, we have made innumerable plans, which we hope will bear fine fruit.

Ring Committee Chosen

At last we shall experience the feel of the beautiful school insignia! For our ring committee, composed of Ida Maidman, Chairman; Ruth Mack, Marion Landis, and Reba Henken, is promising an early presentation of our long awaited rings.

Election of Important Officers

As next term's 12A Class, it is to us that the school at large turns for a Vice-President of the Students' Association. And who is more worthy of holding this office than our oft-tried and tested classmate, Mildred Cohn? And in her we all invest our implicit faith. To represent us in the Senate, we have chosen Marion Gurk and Edith Shenkman; while Susan Kait, Theresa Chletcos, and Gertrude Eisenberg will help mete out justice.

Class Officers Chosen !

An eventful day, indeed! As stately 12A's, we've selected a most worthy President,—a former Senator,—Ida Maidman. The other splendid girls are: Hannah Wallock, Vice-President; Reba Wasserman, Secretary, and Dorothy Ferry, Treasurer.

Tribute to New Windows

In a beautiful ceremony, the beautiful and inspirationally significant new stained glass windows in the Mable Hall were unveiled. Miss Wright told us how, through the co-operation of pupil and teacher, they were made available.

Senior Reception

The grain has been harvested—and well! "Gay Captives," written by Ruth Chiger, and coached by our Class officers, was presented, and proved a triumphant success. Mildred Cohn, the hero, and Lillian Leibowitz, the languishing heroine, together with the excellent cast, worked unceasingly to make it so.

Our Last Installation

We have ascended the top-most rung of our high school ladder. We have witnessed and participated in our final Installation Exercises as students of William Penn. How fitting were the words of our President, Mildred Cohn, on Friendship. Susan Kait solemnly took the oath of Chief Justice. The other dignified judges are Edith Shenkman, Gertrude Levitsky, and Emma Haage. In the Senate are Reba Henken and Sylvia Wynne. And we musn't forget the new Editor-in-Chief of Onas, Eleanor Chesney.

No other class in the school, we know, has been more awed or more moved than we of the outgoing Senior Class! (No, not even the Freshmen!)

Our Last Christmas Party

Just as we have witnessed the Installation Exercises for the last time, so, too, have we enjoyed our last Christmas. This year the tears that just would come at thoughts of leaving were dispelled by jolly old Santa, familiarly known to us as Hannah Wallock. Her hilarity (or should we say his?) was contagious and spread to us all.

And the Prom . . . .

Our Dance! At the Warburton House, on Friday, January 16, the long looked for Prom was held. The gay frocks, lively syncopation, and the last agonies of parting will always remain in our memories.

Graduation . . . . !

As the curtain is about to be lowered over our high school days, we cannot help being reminiscent. How we enjoyed the Student Assemblies, organized and conducted by our S. A. President, Mildred.

All things come and go—so must we—not, however, without fond memories as to the happiness and friendliness that always pervaded the halls of our dear Alma Mater.

REBA HENKEN.

PROPHECY

The Class Prophecy

(May the Happy Fates Rule Our Destinies)

ONCE upon a time, (you know all real good stories start that way), there was a very wonderful big clock, which was erected on top of the lofty "up and up" Cohn Building, in New York, and it was put there by all the kindergartens of Philadelphia, as a present to the Graduating Class of the Fall Term of 1931, for their wonderful kindness and gracious helpfulness to all the kindergartens of the city every Christmas tide. You know this clock wasn't just an ordinary clock, that did anything as commonplace as telling the time of day—it told lots of things, and they were all concerned with the William Pennites. It was just as wise as an old owl, as observant as a teacher during an exam period, and as magic as Aladdin's Lamp!

Instead of showing the time of day, it registered just as emphatically the doings of our Pennites all over the world in the year 1935, through the means of the television dial which searched out every Pennite, and filmed all their activities.

One fine day, one of the Pennites got very lonesome for her old friends and decided to visit the clock—and here's the series of pictures it showed her—a collection more varied, more unusual, different, daring, and grand than Hollywood could ever produce.

The curtain rises:

The Lonesome Pennite sees a big steamer, "The S. S. Majestic" in fact, docking at a New York wharf, and down the gangplank trips a very dainty miss, Lillian Leibowitz, who is just returning from abroad, after an extensive tour of Europe, where she is being hailed as the Prima Donna of the day. Accompanying Miss Le Bow, was her private secretary, the vivacious Minnie Madison, and her publicity agent, Annabelle Braman. Arriving on the same ship is Gussie Rothman, returning from her honeymoon and looking as a happy bride should. The scene changes and the Lonesome Pennite sees the "insides" of the great ocean liner—on the miniature golf course, Eudine O'Dell is playing her last game trying to outdo her partner, Pearl Benjamin, who is in turn eagerly trying to beat Eudine's score.

The reel flashes—the Lonesome Pennite laughs heartily at the picture of Anna Davidov co-starring with Joe E. Brown and, the script writer for the rip-roaring production is none other than Fannie Greenberg. Then an immense concert hall, packed to the very brim, is shown and the reason for all the fuss is, that Amelia Laden and Elsie Berstler are making their debut as the twin piano virtuosos, and Alice Sharozian, the celebrated artist of Spanish love songs, is appearing on the same program. Then the Lonesome Pennite is fascinated by the bright lights dazzling all of Broadway, which are announcing that the popular musical comedy "Risque Revels" written by Ruth Chiger, the noted musical "comediest," and boasting of an all star cast composed of such stellar dancing lights as Roselyn Bankin, Edythe Gratz, Beatrice Miller, and Mildred Vilensky and starring the palpitating "blues" singer, Celia Berkowitz, has arrived at New York. Then the Rialto is featuring the successor to Ethel Barrymore, Julia Smarkola, who is making a sensation in the prize winning Pulitizer play of the year (1935) written by Frances B. Goldman.

The Pennites are also having their fling in Hollywood, as Annabelle Pinsky (the second Ann Harding), Beatrice Harmon, and Ida Osnofsky are busily engaged in their talkie productions which will probably make as great a stir in the world, as have their preceding ones. The theatre and movie world surely has claimed a goodly share!

And now to the busy business world—clacking keys, swivel chairs, notebooks, pothooks and dashes—some very efficient looking young women are busily typing away and among them are Mae Hirschfeld, Rose Pitts, Bertha Marcus, and Nettie Bebchuck, all assets to the big stock and bond concern, and Anna Arlus is private secretary to the President of the organization, who is our very own Ida Maidman (who is justly the head of everything big!) Now in this day of 1935 even girls are presidents of stock and bond firms—and there are no crashes! Ruth Brooks is the "aviation stenog" who travels from Washington to New York every day to take dictation from her important "employeress," Helen Silverman, who transacts confidential business for the government, and Florence Stein is her second aid. The chief managers for the Horn and Hardart Baking Company are Anna Fuller and Anna London, and the two Rebeccas, Stern and La Boda, are working there together as chief cashiers (plenty of money involved). The Pennsylvania Railroad has for its head "time tabulator" none other than Helen Widman, who was always exact, and Lillian Helmus is the lucky one that arranges all the charming tours around the United States. Known throughout business circles as the three bookkeeping doctors are Helen Vincenti, Freda Speigel, and Minnie Abramson. The Certified Public Accountants for the P. R. T. are the capable Misses Bella Marovitz, Fannie Goldstein, and Bertha Treatman.

Teaching pothooks and dashes is Marion Bauchop, at the Landis Junior High (named after Marion Landis, who donated a great sum for the progression of interest in foreign events). Sayde Dranow and Fannie Kurman are Retail Selling Sponsors, and Doris Lederman is principal—a fine state of affairs, I should think!

"Vogue," we see, has for its charming representative in Paris, Irene Goldberg, who is smart, sophisticated, and attractive, so no wonder she has succeeded.

Then the Lonesome Pennite glimpses a most inviting studio owned by Elsie Siratz and Ethel Skipper, the "Two Inseparables," and they are having tea together. The guests included are Evelyn Brown, famous sculptor; Mildred La Mor, humorist; Gertrude Eisenberg, book critic; and Ida Borish, head of the Social Service movement in New York. In the adjoining apartment, which is in Greenwich Village, we have the intelligentsia composed of Reba Henken, who is now editing the "New Yorker"; Mary Chialastria, artist; Reba Wasserman, a second Edna St. Vincent Millay; Lilyan Bergman, society debutante and dilettante; and Eva Faggen, pianist. In 1935, the chief justice is none other than Susan Kait, and in the Court are Theresa Chletcos, and Gertrude Levitsky (both still judging wisely). Painting great masterpieces as treasures for future generations, are Mary Anne Brenneman, Lillian Cleage, and Margaret Cobb.

Hannah Wallock is private secretary to the President of the United States, and Edith Shenkman and Sylvia Wynne are in turn her private secretaries (a true representation of Pennites in high position).

And all this goes on reel after reel—showing the Lonesome Pennite just where all her classmates are! "Vanity Fair" is showing in its "Nominations for the Hall of Fame," Flora Herman, a runner-up for the position of the memorable David Belasco (you recall the author of the Senior Reception); Florence Gremlich, master German translator and linguist; Pauline Margolis, the successor to Fannie Brice; and Sophie Lavet, the Helen Wills of 1935.

A most exclusive dress shoppe is under the supervision of Ruth Austin, designer of French frocks, and her attractive models are Eva Grossman, Emily Schroeder, Mary Shetzline, and Fay Gistrak. Taking part in the great international dispute as to whether women should or should not have permanent waves is Emma Dasch and Edna Gottreich, they always had good points to back up their arguments.

Even the world of science is represented as Miriam Carr, brilliant in the realm of deep mathematics, is a noted scientist, and soon we'll be looking for her name in all of the papers for some startling discovery she has made. The social world has in its sophisticated circle, Gussie Dichter, Marion Gurk, Esther Zamochnick, and Sophie Zatuchni.

The movie even goes back to our very own Alma Mater. And we see quite a few changes in the faculty—plenty of the 1931 class are engaged in imparting knowledge here to some more Pennites—Eleanor Korenblatt and Esther Miller are both in the History Department, Anna Semenack is an athletic instructor, and Florence Shamberg is expounding the main facts of Commercial Geography.

Quite a few girls have received degrees: Shirley Weinstein, Ethel Goldberg, Viola Anderson, Barbara Stoops, and Frances Lippman all have M.D.'s (matrimonial degrees, of course). Helen Levins is busy teaching jack-knives and swan-dives in her own pool, while Marion Smith aids her. We see an inviting, cozy gift shoppe— — glance in, and see Wilhelmina Berger at the counter, just as sweet as ever—Ruth Mack is the salesgirl who makes you buy things because you really want to, and Marion Kavitsky often stops in on her way to the theatre close by, which has as its permanent attraction, the popular dancing team composed of Sara Katz, Vashti Hooper, Anna Harris, and Frances Usinskas.

In Congress are Jeanette Weiner and Rebecca Hirsh, both fighting for some more rights for women, and Sylvia Rosenthal is secretary to the Speaker of the House. Germany proved attractive to Clara Kugler, so she is residing there permanently. Willa Mae Henderson plans the delicious meals for the Benjamin Franklin establishment.

The Social Workers have in their ranks, Goldie Bolno, Sara Zekter, Fannie Footer, Evelyn Taylor, and Thelma Wills. Florence Rickel is known as "Floss-the-Funster" and helps the Social Workers by cheering up the kiddies at the various hospitals and day nurseries (true Penn spirit).

The Aviation Bureau in New York has William Penn represented, as Emma Haage, Dorothy Streeper, Lydia Spizeri, and Gussie Margolis, are all air pilots for the mail-carrying dirigibles, and Dorothy Ferry is known as "Daring Dot" around the Field, which is owned by the joint partners, Bertha and Esther Pomerantz. Quite air-minded, are they not?

The movies is long, but the Lonesome Pennite is not tired, she opens her eyes wider and eagerly looks for more news. The degree of M.C. (man comforters) has been bestowed on Fanny Dubin, Ruth Ford, Rosalie Goldman, and Sarah Hoch—meaning of course, that they are now making just one man happy for the rest of his days.

A great music lover at all times, Frances D'Alonzo, is working at Presser's, where she may always be in the musical environment, and Rose Weiner is sitting at the Information Desk in the Ledger Building; Bessie Rosenstein, Marie Lewis, Rose Bulotin, and Hazel Ward are all on the Ledger staff, as "newsy" reporters.

Down Fifth Avenue strolls a charming young lady who is Ruth Bradburd, also on the Ledger staff, and she is the Chief Society Reporter (what glimpses she must have of the social whirl). The expensive looking jewelry establishment is owned by Mary Fruman. Cecelia Hausman, Rose Jacobson, Lena Blume, and Edith Heller, all had their fiances make the "ring" purchase there because they knew the owner, and the sales staff was composed of Eva Luthran, Bessie Josel, and Beatrice Kosofsky.

The new radio "rage" is Inez Sutton, who sings as even Rudy Vallee couldn't. Sylvia Goldsteen gives the public operatic selections, while the announcers for the radio station W.P.H.S. are Laura Mathis, Beatrice Payne, and Ella Hewlitt—the real Penn broadcasting station, and we don't mean the lunchroom either!

Marie Lotary speaks daily on "Beauty Hints" and Henrietta Brodsky and Esther Bernstein discuss ethical problems. In the Congressional Library, Frances Polansky, Freda Weinstein, Louise Henry, and Vivian Frazier are librarians, while Mary Rosenbaum takes care of the Children's Reading Room.

Almost finished—a complete picture of the class—full of smiles, happiness, and more smiles! The Lonesome Pennite is sorry the movie is over, but happy she saw them all—just four years older. But oh! you don't know who built the towering Cohn Building and the wonderful clock—well, can't you guess, it was our very own Mildred Cohn, "architect extraordinaire," who while in school kept the class of 1931 "glued" together under her admirable leadership, and through the means of this unusual clock kept the Pennites

"Though divided

Always united."

Truly, a praiseworthy accomplishment!

The Lonesome Pennite says "Goodbye," and "Good Wishes"!

ELEANOR CHESNEY.

GRADUATING STAFF MEMBERS

Each edition of Onas brings prominent faces to the front page. This time Onas graces its columns with the pictures and activities of the graduating staff members.

Reba Wasserman, Poetry Editor, needs little introduction, for she is well-known as Secretary of the 12B class. Throughout her school career Reba took active parts in the Plant Lovers Club, Contemporary Club, Cheshire Cheese Club, Students' Aid Club, and others. She was a member of the Book Lovers Council and a Volunteer, and this term, to add to her already overflowing list, she is serving on the Archive and Typing Committee in the making of the Record Book for her class.

Annabelle Braman, Exchange Editor, whom we all remember as the head usher at the Senior Reception last term and as an usher at Commencement, was a Volunteer and a Monitor. Annabelle seems to have spent loads of time in the clubs to which she belonged, these being the Junior and Senior Dramatic Clubs, of the latter of which she is now Vice-President, Cheshire Cheese, Students' Aid, Swimming and Social Workers Clubs. To top off this group, she is a member of the Archive Committee also.

The present editor of the stories and essays is Mildred La Mor. Mildred was one of the charter members of the Art Lovers. As Monitor, Volunteer and now member of the Archive Committee, she has done splendid work.

There is plenty of hard work besides the writing in the making of the paper. Lilyan Bregman of the Business Staff can second this motion, for she has been faithfully doing work that isn't very easy. Throughout her school terms she belonged to the following clubs: Cheshire Cheese, of which she is now president for the second time, Social Workers, Swimming, Book Lovers and Hikers Clubs. Not only was she a Monitor, Volunteer and usher at Commencement, but this term an active worker on the Archive Committee.

This term the staff is losing three girls who have done lots of illustrating for the paper. The first, Elsie Siratz, was a Representative, Bank Clerk, member of the Art Lovers Club, president of the Art Club, and hard-working member of the art staff for the paper.

Ethel Skipper, going hand in hand with Elsie, was in the Senior Reception last term. As cheer leader, and as member of the Art and Swimming Clubs, as well as Bank Clerk, Ethel is well remembered.

The third artist, Rose Bulotin, was recipient of the second cash prize award of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. Rose was a Monitor and still is a member of the Art Club, Cheshire Cheese Club, and Choral Club. This term she is helping in the preparation of the Record Book. It is interesting to note that she is accomplishing her four years of high school work in three and one-half years.

We must not forget our two secretaries, Ruth Bradburd and Frances B. Goldman. Ruth's group chose her as Representative twice so she must have been some "Rep." Not only was she a Monitor, Volunteer and Bank Officer, but also a member of the Cheshire Elsie Siratz is to be congratulated upon combining her own artistic ability and the meaning of the name of our paper to produce the beautiful heading under which this first issue appears.

BUDDING ARTIST PLANS DREAM CASTLE

Summer and fall have passed and the artists have turned from their outside wanderings to cozy inside work where the imagination is very useful.

Elsie Siratz, of Book 14, is one of the Onas Staff's budding artists. Elsie is a member of the 6 Vocational Art class and has just finished designing a book of her dream home.

The plans of the house are laid on the same principles as those of a genuine architect. The house itself is of modified old English style surrounded by a colorful garden. The first floor contains a living room, a dining room, a kitchen with a breakfast nook, and a sun porch. The second floor has a bedroom, a guest room, a child's room and a bathroom. Of each of these rooms the book contains a charming picture.

The furniture and draperies of the various rooms are also depicted by illustrations cut out and pasted in the book. The colorings of the fabrics shown are according to the rooms. The living room has green and rose draperies and one bedroom is in pink. Altogether, the atmosphere of a house such as Elsie's spells happiness.
